

This is Part 4 in a continuation of our effort to provide ongoing resources to educate ourselves and church members about anti-racist efforts. The following resources link to websites with information about Quaker/Friends history and their involvement with anti-racism and abolition. The purpose of these resources is not to take credit for what has been done historically by Friends as something that justifies our denomination. Rather, this is continued effort to re-dig the wells to help us understand that many Christians and Friends have done the hard work of addressing racism and injustice and should inspire us and convict us to do the same.

Quakers in South Africa

<https://www.quakersintheworld.org/quakers-in-action/101>

Contemporary response from Evangelical Friends Church – North America (which includes our region)

<https://efcmaym.org/news/efc-na-statement-on-racial-justice-june-2020/>

From Bryn Mawr College in cooperation with Swarthmore College and Haverford College

Quakers and Slavery

<https://web.tricolib.brynmawr.edu/speccoll/quakersandslavery/>

From Wikipedia

Quakers in the Abolition Movement

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Quakers\_in\_the\_abolition\_movement

From PBS – Africans in America series – describes efforts of Quakers in Germantown (near Philadelphia) in establishing the PAS, Pennsylvania Abolition Society.

Founding of Pennsylvania Abolition Society

<https://www.pbs.org/wgbh/aia/part3/3p249.html>

An article by Howard Macy in Quaker Religious Thought

Intersections between Martin Luther King Jr. and the Quakers

<https://digitalcommons.georgefox.edu/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?article=1134&context=qrt>