Oil Depot Plans Stir BCA Fight Against Proposal

by Fred Bott, Community Manager
Many residents have heard a part of the story of the plans by the Marathon Oil Co. to erect an oil storage depot on Genito Road, as well as the BCA's position in the matter. Here's the full story.

The Marathon Oil Company of Findley, Ohio, in partnership with the Southern States Co. of Richmond, made a formal request to the County of Chesterfield on August 17, 1982, for a conditional use permit which would allow bulk storage and distribution of petroleum products in an area less than a mile from Brandermill on Genito Road. This area is currently zoned for agriculture.

On August 24, the Chesterfield County Planning Staff recommended to the Planning Commission that the request be approved (at the August 24, 1982 meeting) if certain conditions were met. This complete report, as well as Marathon Oil's proposal, is available for review at the BCA office.

Based on calls from the BCA office and from other sources, our Supervisor, Buck Bookman, asked that a decision on the matter be deferred until the September 28 meeting. The Planning Commission agreed.

The Plans call for the construction of a 286,000 barrel (with future expansion of an additional 720,000 barrel) capacity light petroleum products terminal on Genito Road, near the point where the Plantation and Colonial Pipelines intersect. The exact location is a heavily wooded area just west of the Veeco power lines on the south side of Genito Road, .8 miles east of the intersection of Old Hundred and Genito Roads.

The BCA Board of Directors, at its September 13, 1982 meeting, voted unanimously to oppose the construction of an oil storage depot in a predominantly residential area. This action was communicated by BCA President, Ben Cummings, in a letter to Mr. Lawrence R. Belcher, the Representative from our area (Clover Hill) on the Planning Commission, and the other Planning Commission members.

The Marathon Oil officials, upon hearing of Brandermill's opposition to their project, asked for an opportunity to meet with the BCA Board and discuss the depot project. President Ben Cummings agreed to the Marathon proposal if they agreed to defer the Planning Commission hearing scheduled for September 28, 1982, in order to allow the County Planning Staff, Marathon and the BCA to consider alternative sites for the project.

Residents Are Concerned About Recent Burglaries

Concern has been expressed by a number of residents following two recent burglaries of homes in Brandermill. The same questions are always asked. How widespread is this problem and what can each resident do to prevent it from happening to them?

While it is of little comfort to the victims, Brandermill has far fewer of these incidents than the rest of Chesterfield County, indicating that there is no widespread problem of burglaries in our community. Still, one is too many. The Chesterfield County police suggest the following precautions when you go away and leave your home unattended:

1. Tell your neighbors you are leaving. The best possible protection, say the police, is an alert neighbor. In one recent case, a neighbor saw a strange vehicle in the driveway of a victim's home. Instead of calling the police, 748-1251, or Brandermill Security, 744-1076, or at least getting a license number, the matter was ignored. As a minimum (even if you do not want to get involved), get a license number of any strange vehicle either on your neighbor's property or cruising the neighborhood—particularly after dark. A fully organized Neighborhood Watch Program is really no more effective than a neighbor watching out for a neighbor.

2. Call Chesterfield County Police, 748-1251, and advise them of your date and time of leaving and returning. Also, leave a telephone number where you can be reached if there is a problem, either with a burglary or an activated alarm. Call the BCA office, 744-1035, with the same information. The Brandermill patrol will then check your home along with the Chesterfield County Police.

3. Leave lights, set to go on at dark and off at daybreak, burning inside and outside the home.

4. Consider installing an alarm system. These can be quite effective. If you do have an alarm system, leave a key to your home with a neighbor in case it is activated.

5. Do not advise anyone other than your neighbors that you plan to be away from home.

Community Theatre Organized In B'mill

The Brandermill Community Theatre has announced the completion of its organization and is in the process of establishing itself as a non-profit corporation. It has been founded to enhance and encourage the appreciation and performance of the creative arts in the Richmond Metropolitan area.

What began with several hand-lettered flyers posted on bulletin boards throughout Brandermill and the surrounding area announcing preliminary meeting rapidly developed into a community theatre in full swing. The flyers were prepared and distributed by four Brandermill residents, Dennis Lacey, Sandra Lacey, Drina Kay, and Karen Friedrichs, who felt that there were probably a lot of area residents like themselves who would welcome the opportunity to develop a community theatre, and that they simply needed to get the ball rolling. Their feelings proved to be quite accurate.

An initial meeting was held at the Brandermill Community Center on Sunday, August 29, 1982, and attended by more than forty people who were interested in participating in all aspects of the project from directing, performing and the various requirements of behind the scenes production work, to the general organization and administration of the theatre as a non-profit corporation. Attendees included both individuals who had studied theatre or worked with various other theatre organizations in the past, as well as many who had little or no experience, but who came to learn and to help.

It was decided at this meeting that the proposed community theatre was not only a desired, but most importantly, a feasible reality. It was also decided that the first production would be Dark of the Moon, selected because of its large cast and suitability for community theatre production. Auditions were held and casting completed by September 13, 1982. Rehearsals began Wednesday, September 15, and the play is scheduled for performance on the last two weekends in October.

An organizational meeting of the general membership took place on Sunday, September 12, 1982. A constitution and bylaws were approved and temporary officers and committee chairman were elected to serve through the performances of the first production. The individuals elected at this meeting were Andy Brooks, L.D. Still, and Barbara Stutzman to the Board of Trustees members, Dennis Lacey, President, Ron Kruse, Vice President, Julia Chilson, Secretary, Margaret Sutherland, Treasurer, and Karen Friedrichs, Judy Fuller, and Jay

Halloween Commercial Filmed In Poplar Grove

The setting was Paolo and Cindy Stagni's home in Poplar Grove and the props were ghosts, cameras, cables, harnesses, bright lights and a wide variety of vehicles parked in the street. The reason? Colony Productions was back in Brandermill making another commercial.

The award winning production company which was responsible for filming last year's commercials for the Brandermill Group was doing a special Halloween spot for Hardee's restaurants. The Stagni's home was chosen because of its physical characteristics, and layout. The television commercial will be shown throughout Virginia and North Carolina for the two weeks preceding this favorite festival for goblins everywhere.

Watching the special effects of seeing a young boy in a ghost costume "flying" out of the house was punctuated with cheers and applause by the neighbors in Poplar Grove who were watching from out of the camera's range. Several of the youngsters, however, have hopes of being caught in the film.

One Brandermill boy, Chuckie Carlisle of Winterberry Ridge, was cast by Colony Productions in the role of a trick-or-treater.

Tax Breaks Studied for Homeowner Associations

BCA President Ben Cummings recently testified before a meeting of a Joint Committee of the Virginia General Assembly. The Committee was formed to study the question of whether or not a State Income Tax deduction should be allowed for the portion of homeowners' association dues used to finance governmental-type services. These services include maintenance, security, snow removal, street lights, tree removal and county property taxes.

Ben Cummings, speaking for the Brandermill Community Association, voiced the support of our community for this action. The committee will be using the Brandermill and Reston, Virginia Community Associations as models in their study.

The Village Mill will keep you posted on developments in this matter.

Current Issues from the Brandermill Group

Growth of Brandermill Community Should Reflect Baby Boom of 50's

by Gary Fenchuk

Given the recent economic turmoil, some people are understandably concerned about the future of the real estate industry and how the Brandermill community might be affected. While no one has been able to accurately predict our future economic destiny, there are some extremely favorable developments on the horizon which should prove to be highly positive for the housing industry.

Ironically, history will likely play the major role in the real estate's future. The post-war "baby boom" generation of the late 40's and 50's is now becoming the "young family" generation of the 80's. This irreversible population "bubble" has matured to the point in time where the first wave of this unprecedented 15 year population explosion has recently begun to enter the prime home buying age. Just as Gerbers in the 50's, elementary and secondary school construction in the 60's, and apartments in the 70's all experienced a dramatic explosion in growth, the housing market is poised to become the primary beneficiary during the 80's.

Obviously, during the last two years, this potential home-buying demand has been effectively suppressed due to the doubling of mortgage rates. However, it is a fact that the interest rates are now in the process of a dramatic, steep decline. Already, various short-term rates have tumbled 40 percent. Likewise, long-term rates (which typically lag short-term rates) have begun a decline from the 17-18 percent level to the 13 1/2-14 percent area. With the prospect of a return to single digit inflation (a major determinant of long-term interest rates), long-term mortgages are likely to settle down at an attractive, affordable level. While it's questionable whether long-term rates will ever return to their previous levels, there is a wide assortment of alternative financing available through variable mortgage programs, currently obtainable as low as 11 percent. It is encouraging to note that even the economic "doomsdayers," such as Henry Kaufman, have recently "corrected" themselves and are now forecasting that the world will not end and that our cyclical economy will once again return to an extended period of low inflation and interest rates.

Historically, such a combination of reduced inflation and interest rates has always fostered a vigorous recovery in the overall economy. This imminent return to a period of growth and stability will provide a conducive economic environment which will serve to unleash both the pent-up and unprecedented future housing demand created by the post-war "baby boom." On the basis of this demand potential, the housing market could well be on the verge of an explosive boom — perhaps the greatest in history! This could further be aided by the recent, temporary slowing in housing prices, which have allowed income levels to "catch-up." Even though the housing industry may appear bleak at this moment, we may all look back on 1982 as the best real estate investment opportunity in our lifetime.

As if the onset of the "baby boom" and a dramatically improved national economy were not sufficient, the Brandermill community enjoys one additional significant advantage due to its location in the sun belt region. It is a fact, Brandermill is located in one of the fastest growing regions in the nation. During the last decade, Chesterfield County was the fastest growing county in Virginia. It grew at a rate which would have ranked it fifth among cities (over 100,000 in population) throughout the country. Furthermore, it is projected that during the 80's, the State of Virginia will be the fifth fastest growing state in the nation — surpassed only by California, Texas, Florida, and Georgia.

Hence, in spite of the depressing economic conditions experienced over the recent past, there is every reason to be optimistic toward a highly promising future for the housing industry. Moreover, we are fully confident that the Brandermill

Pizza Parlor Opening Soon In Market Square

Market Square will soon be greeting the fourth Patti's Pizza Restaurant to be opened in the Richmond area. Owned and operated by Patti Vagos and Kevin Powell, Patti's Pizza offers all kinds of pizza, hot and cold sandwiches, salads, Italian dinner specialties, soft drinks and beer.

When asked how they will succeed where two other restaurants failed (K.C. Brown's and Bacchus and Beef Cafe) Patti said, "we are going to give the people what they want. Patti's is a fun place where you can get good food at low prices. And we're experienced in a full line restaurant business."

The restaurant will be redecorated prior to opening and will have off-white walls, lots of plants and a sports motif. There will be lots of golf photos on the wall, emphasizing one of Kevin's favorite pastimes and the casual living style in Brandermill.

Both Patti and Kevin stressed their eagerness to get involved in community activities and in the support of local organizations. They cited their involvement with Mills Godwin High School in Richmond which is near one of their other locations. Patti's Pizza sponsors a pizza eating contest as a fund raiser for the school.

Exchange Student Program Seeks Hosts

AFS International/Intercultural Program is offering the families of Brandermill the opportunity to meet the world face to face.

Families are being sought by the Clover Hill Chapter to host foreign students for the coming school year. Each visiting student is between the ages of 16 and 19 and lives as a member of a family, while attending classes at the high school. The chapter hopes to host 3 students this coming year.

A major quality desired in a host family is an openness to new ideas. Although many host families have children of high school age, families with young children or no children are eligible to host and are encouraged to apply. Host families are not

Host families may take a monthly tax deduction of $50 in accordance with provisions made by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. AFS extends medical coverage to its students and a monthly allowance.

The candidates who apply for a year stay in the U.S. are carefully screened through their own national offices and the international headquarters of AFS located in New York City. There are currently 3,241 students from 55 nations living and studying in American communities across the country.

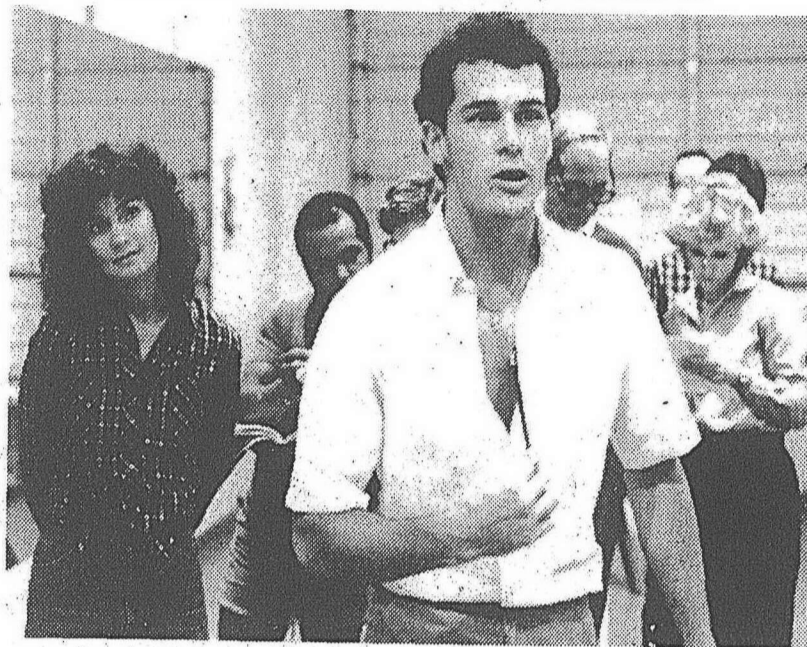

Said one host mother, "AFS proves that it is easy to forget national barriers and find a base for growth and understanding; we discovered much about human nature in general and our children were awakened to an interest for the world and the people living in it."

Families interested in participating in the AFS experience can call Arlyn Gardner, Chapter President at 744-2365, or Pat Cooke, Family Selection Coordinator at 744-2936.

Theatre Cast Is Announced

The Brandermill Community Theatre, the Richmond area's newest, has announced casting for its first major production, Dark Of The Moon, a fantasy drama by Howard Richardson and William Berney, which is scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings, October 22 and 23, and 29 and 30, at 8 P.M. at the Brandermill Church in Sunday Park.

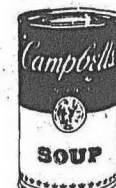

Most recently produced in New York in a critically acclaimed off-Broadway production just five years ago, Dark Of The Moon is set in the South deep in the Smokey Mountains. It is the story of the ill-fated love between the beautiful mountain girl, Barbara Allen, and the intensely vulnerable "Witch Boy", John Human. The play is filled with mystery, gentle humor, and tragedy which arise from John's struggle to become human and escape the supernatural from which he comes, the actions and superstitious attitudes of the many local "characters" who populate the

Kickoff Time Is Party Time

BY Cathy Hinton

Football season is here. It's time to start planning many ideas for pre-game parties. Whether you tailgate at the stadium or entertain at home, quick and hearty "hot" foods are the menu key.

WHAT'S COOKING

A Richmond favorite for years, the Sailor sandwich, (with a slight ingredient switch) would be a great entree for tailgaters who have a grill available. Bagels piled high with spicy pastrami and Swiss cheese are heated in foil on the grill, while knockwurst is grilled alongside the sandwiches. The knockwurst is popped into the hot sandwich for an interesting taste combination. Don't forget a pickle and a mug of your favorite brew to complete the menu.

WIDE-MOUTH BAGELS

6 bagels, split
 3 knockwurst Dijon mustard
 1/4 pound pastrami, sliced thin
 1/2 pound sliced Swiss cheese

Divide pastrami and cheese equally among 6 bagels; placed top on each sandwich. Tear off a length of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap large enough to wrap the bagels in a single layer. Bring 2 sides of foil up over sandwiches; fold down loosely in a series of locked folds allowing for heat circulation and expansion. Fold short ends up and over again; crimp to seal. Split knockwurst lengthwise, cutting down, but not all the way through. Cut in half crosswise. Grill knockwurst over medium hot coals 10 to 15 minutes, turning frequently. Grill sandwiches 10 to 15 minutes or until cheese is melted. To serve, place one piece of knockwurst inside each bagel sandwich; spread with Dijon mustard. Makes: 6 sandwiches.

If you're having a pre-game party at home, or entertaining by the TV a buffet-type meal is always the best choice. With preparation at a minimum, you can enjoy the game while guests serve themselves.

Mexican food is a favorite of many and it's usually very economical to prepare for a crowd. SUPERSIZE BURRITO makes a 4-foot long burrito which will serve 10 people. Make 2 pounds of your favorite taco meat filling and get your guests to help with the rest. Because it is so large, it's necessary to make a serving board out of magazines and foil to support this giant sandwich.

STEAMING FLOUR TORTILLAS

- (1) Tear off a length of heavy duty foil wrap large enough to wrap a stack of 10 tortillas.
- (2) Dampen a strip of three paper towels; wrap around tortillas covering completely. Place in center of foil sheet. Bring 2 sides of foil up over tortillas; fold down loosely in a series of locked folds allowing for heat circulation and expansion. Fold short ends upward and over again; crimp to seal.
- (3) Place in 350° F. oven for 15 minutes or until heated through.

SUPERSIZE BURRITO

- 2 lbs. taco meat filling
- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 package 10 flour tortillas, 7-inch diameter, steamed | 2 cups (8 oz.) grated Cheddar cheese |
| 1 can (16 oz.) refried beans, heated | 2 cups (8 oz.) grated Monterey Jack cheese |
- Meat filling

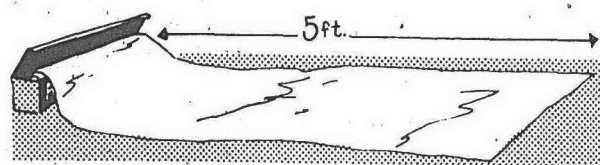

Overlap the steamed tortillas down the length of the burrito serving board. Spoon heated refried beans down the center of the tortillas in a 2-inch band. Ladle hot meat filling over the beans, top with grated cheese, reserving approximately 1 cup cheese for top of burrito. At this point, it's helpful to have several people working together down the length of the burrito. Bring one side of the tortillas up over the filling and roll to enclose; tuck seam underneath. Center burrito on board. Top with reserved cheese. Cut into 2 to 3 inch sections; transfer to plates with wide spatula. Top with desired accompaniments.*

*Accompaniments for supersize burrito: Shredded lettuce, chopped onions, sliced ripe olives, dairy sour cream, chopped tomatoes, guacamole and picante or taco sauce. Makes: 10 servings.

BURRITO SERVING BOARD

This is designed to support a 4-foot long burrito. It is easiest to build with an assistant.

- (1) Tear off a 5-foot length of heavy duty foil wrap; place on serving counter shiny side down.

The name Idaho comes from an Indian word meaning "gem of the mountains."

Wide-Mouth Bagels Tempt Tailgaters

- (2) On foil place 6 to 7 magazines, side by side, to measure approximately 4 1/2-feet in length. (A 1x4 1/2-foot length of cardboard may be substituted for the magazine.) Tape together securely with masking tape.

- (3) Fold foil over edges of magazines or cardboard. (Foil will not completely cover top.) Flip board to shiny side, supporting center while turning.

Sitting Registry Started By Brandermill Woman

Lee Worth has moved into Whispering Oaks with her husband, Robin, two toddlers, Elizabeth and Phillip, and between twenty and thirty other family friends. While they do not all live with the Worths, these friends all come in contact with Lee through her home as she establishes a Brandermill sitter registry for homes, children, plants and pets.

Lee is aggressively promoting her registry on all levels. She will provide sitters throughout the Richmond metropolitan area and is meeting with several hotel managers and real estate people to provide service to visitors and prospective newcomers as well. Her most important goal is to put the parents at ease as much as possible so they know, "when they use Family Friends they get the very best of care."

Lee is seeking to provide a service similar to that which has been operating in Charlottesville for several years which provides "responsible care for those things you care most about." Through the use of her registry, she eliminates the trouble (one phone call will do it) and the worry (through the registry's careful screening) of finding a sitter for most anything. Stringent requirements must be met by those seeking work: an hour and a half interview with Mrs. Worth, three personal and three employment references, a minimum of twenty years of age and the completion of a home safety course which will be provided by the Chesterfield County Fire Department. "The sitters are my ambassadors," explains Lee, a former school teacher. "I am depending on the goodwill of the people and if my sitters don't do a good job, I'm out of business."

The service provided by Family Friends, Inc. does cost a bit more than most parents usually pay, but you can expect a few extras as well. Besides the assurance that you are hiring a skilled and responsible sitter, you should come home to a house that was cleaner than when you left it and you will not have to drive the sitter home since all are required to provide their own transportation.

Garden Club Adopts Holiday House Contest

Holiday House, the contest for home decorations during the Christmas season, formerly a project of the Woman's Club, has been adopted by the Brandermill Garden Club this year. Committees are incomplete at this time, but judging dates have been set for Monday and Tuesday, December 20 and 21.

Judging of the decorated homes will take place during the day and at night and will emphasize originality and the use of natural materials in keeping with Brandermill's total concept. Residents are urged to begin planning now for their home decorations. More information will appear in the November and December issues of "The Village Mill."

The Village Classic, a newcomer to Market Square, offers fashions for women. It is owned by Gloria Wemple of Nuttree Woods.

Lions Club Coupon Book Sales Go Well

Sales of the Fourth Annual Brandermill Lions Club Discount Coupon Book are progressing very well to date. Midway through September, less than two weeks into their sales campaign, the Lions have already earned over $2500 which will be used to fund vision and hearing related projects and other local charitable causes.

"At this point, we have canvassed approximately two thirds of Brandermill at least once," reports Jerry Hardin, chairman of the project, "but of course people are difficult to catch at home. We plan to complete our sales efforts by October 19 so there is still time for people to get their books if we have missed them."

People may obtain booklets from any Brandermill Lions members, or the Bank of Virginia - Market Square. This year's booklet contains 82 coupons valued at hundreds of dollars of savings at local area merchants.

We wish to thank the community for their continued support of our efforts and express our appreciation to Safeway, who will be opening in Brandermill in the Spring, for donating the entire cost of printing the books so that all of your dollars can go directly to charity.

Restaurant Guide Author Will Visit Woman's Club

Nancy Kahn Bolash will be sharing her experience of compiling, publishing, distributing, and publicizing her own book at the evening meeting of the Brandermill Woman's Club, Monday, October 11, 7:30 p.m. at the Brandermill Church. Ms. Bolash is a Richmond resident, a federal contract attorney, and author, publisher of Richmond Restaurants, A Menu Guide. The Guide covers 44 area restaurants, grouped into nine categories: American, Continental, fish and seafood, French, Greek, Italian, Mexican, and Oriental. It includes reproductions of menus, prices, addresses, credit card acceptance, take-out service, facilities for private parties, reservation requirements, and entertainment. Cost of the book is $5.95 and it is available at local book stores and gift shops.

Ms. Bolash has appeared on "Richmond Today," "Good Morning Virginia," "Channel 6 News" with Jeanne Maserve, as well as interviews on local radio stations. She says "many individuals have at some point in their lives, considered publishing a book, or turning some other hobby into a profession."

Nancy Milner, Director of the Advising Center, Virginia Commonwealth University, will be discussing "Focus on Choices, Time Management" Tuesday, October 12, 10:00 a.m. at the Brandermill Country Club. The meeting will be followed by lunch. (Reservations are necessary if you wish to stay for lunch.)

Ms. Milner holds a B.A. degree from Duke University and a Masters Degree from the University of North Carolina. She is a North Carolina native, a resident of Richmond, and very much involved in the community at large. In addition to be director of the Advising Center, Ms. Milner also teaches at Virginia Commonwealth University, conducts seminars at the Women's Resource Center at the University of Richmond, gives tours for the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, and is active in the Junior League. She was featured in WCVE, Channel 23's production of "Women at the Crossroads." She is a witty and accomplished speaker, well know for her ability to put an audience at ease and hold its attention.

If you have not joined or renewed your membership, we hope that the announcements of these programs will inspire you to do so. Membership forms will be available at each meeting.

Cosmetic Dentistry Restores Beauty

by Richard S. Wilson, D.D.S.

Enamel bonding has revolutionized the art of cosmetic dentistry. It bonds porcelain filling material directly to the enamel and minimizes the need for drilling. HERE'S HOW IT WORKS... Enamel is etched with a special solution of phosphoric acid for one minute. This special coating creates microscopic pores in the enamel to which the tiny particles of porcelain filling material can bond. After etching, the porcelain filling material is applied, shaped and molded to the proper form and fit. It is then cured and hardened with a special white light. This can be polished to look as natural and cosmetic as what Mother Nature intended. With this bonding technique, we can treat many irregularities that would otherwise require caps or go untreated. These include teeth with severe stains and discolorations; malaligned or malformed teeth. It is especially effective in treating fractured teeth on children, teens and young adults. Since the nerve canal is very large in young people, caps are contraindicated. Through bonding, we can restore teeth to their natural form and function and achieve beautiful cosmetic results. This is presented as a public service for better dental education.

IT'S A FACT

If you want to keep a paint brush or roller from drying out, you can slip it into a plastic bag, twist the bag to remove air and knot the bag. Your painting tool will be perfectly pliable the next time you need it.

Sky Watch

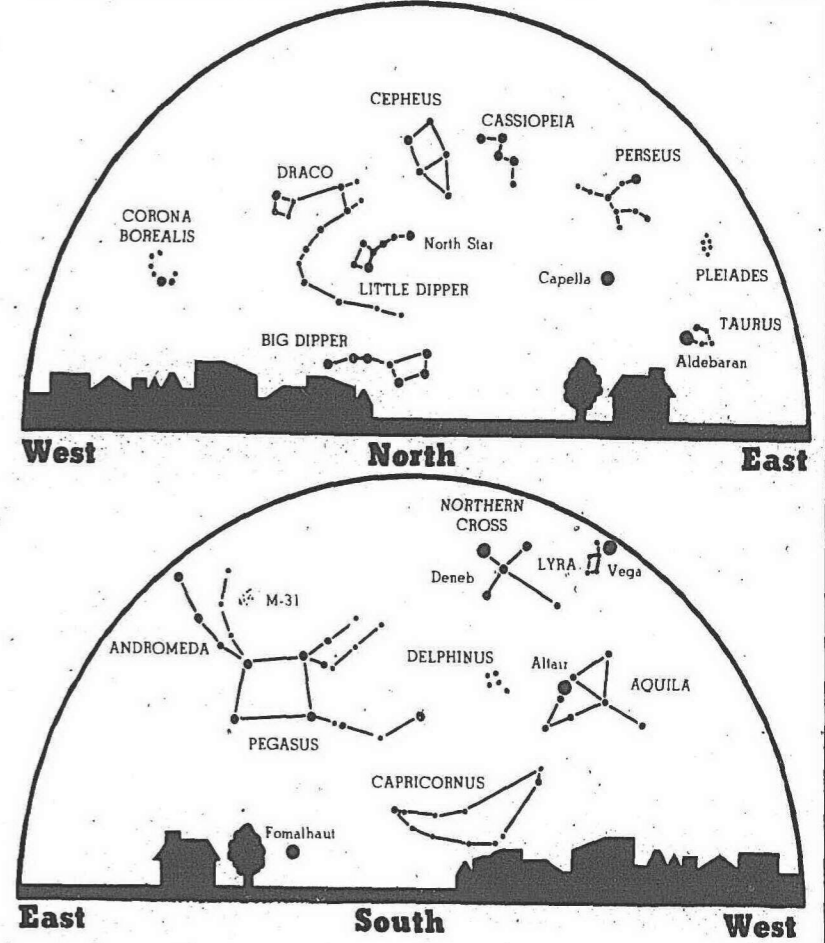

A Monthly Feature Prepared By The Science Museum of Virginia

OCTOBER SKY CHARTS: To use these sky charts face either north or south and hold the charts directly in front of you with the horizon on the bottom. The charts show the brightest stars and planets between the horizon and the part of the sky directly overhead during the early evening hours this month.

CONSTELLATIONS: Look for the Summer Triangle, a prominent star pattern formed by three bright stars - Vega, Deneb and Altair - high in the southern sky. Four other bright stars form a huge square in the southeast known as the Great Square of Pegasus. The stars that form the hind legs of Pegasus, the flying horse, are actually part of the constellation Andromeda.

The bright stars to look for in the northeastern part of the sky are Aldebaran and Capella. Above Aldebaran, the star group, the Pleiades, can be found. This group is a nearby cluster of young stars often called "the seven sisters."

PLANETS: Mars has moved into the constellation Scorpius and can be seen low in the southwest, to the east of Jupiter, in the early evening sky. Both Jupiter and Mars will set shortly after the sun and by month's end, Jupiter will disappear from view.

CELESTIAL EVENTS: The first full moon nearest the autumnal equinox - the Harvest Moon - is celebrated on Saturday, October 2. This full moon is called the Harvest Moon because its extra light provides farmers with additional time to harvest their crops. Look for meteors from the Orionid shower throughout the nights of October 20 and 21. These meteors, originating from the constellation Orion, are debris strewn along the path of Halley's Comet. This comet is moving towards a rendezvous with Earth in 1986 and as it nears, more meteors than usual are expected from the shower.

MOONPHASES:
 ○ Full Moon: Saturday, October 2. (Harvest Moon)
 ● Last Quarter: Saturday, October 9.
 ● New Moon: Saturday, October 16.
 ● First Quarter: Sunday, October 24.
