

Meet our Feline Family at Tranquility Bay...

Ducky:

This is Ducky, the only male in the feline foursome and the oldest of the cats. Ducky has a distinguished orange tabby coat and loves to roll over to show off his tummy when guests gently pet him. He loves lazing around in the Florida sunshine, but when his paws get wet, he may become a little grumpy! It's therefore harder to find Ducky out and about during a tropical downpour, as he'll return to his favorite retreat in the hotel lobby. Ducky gets his name from Duck Key where he was found abandoned. Just don't arrange a play date for Ducky and Marilyn as he does not seem to like her much!

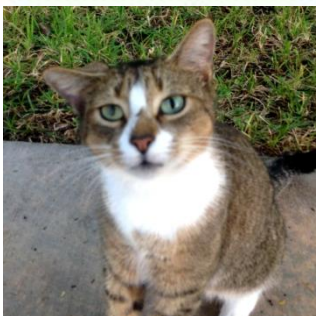

Emmy

Emmy is our stunning green-eyed tabby who has a yellow color running through her fur. She loves to feel pampered and prefers staying indoors than venturing out to explore the grounds, though when she does it's easy to spot her around units 25-34. The heat can often be too much for Emmy, which is why she loves shady spots including indoor areas and cool porches.

Marilyn

Meet Marilyn, the beautiful white cat peppered with a few black spots including a little smudge on her cute nose. Marilyn's favorite hang-out areas of Tranquility Bay are the back porches of units 16-24 where she is at her happiest lounging throughout the day. She likes to be vocal, so it's easy for guests to listen to all she has to say. With lounging around as one of her favorite past-times, Marilyn is definitely not a fan of being picked up. She is also not a fan of hanging around with Ducky, so it's very unusual to see these two prowling around in pairs!

Sandy

Last but not least, here's Sandy. She's the smallest of the four, yet certainly not the most quiet! Sandy will make it known when she needs attention by being vocal and swatting our general manager's foot to remind him when it is time for dinner. Sandy loves the beach, which is why her name is so well-suited to her character. She loves the great outdoors and taking long walks along the sand, and is equally as comfortable relaxing on the back porches of units 74-78. Sandy can get a little grumpy, and does like to have plenty of space to herself, but the guests adore her.

IMPORTANT: The cats that have made Tranquility Bay their home, remain cats that live in the wild. They are accustomed to defending themselves against the other animals that inhabit the Florida Keys: raccoons, iguanas, snakes, possums, etc. Please refrain from trying to pick up the cats—this effort makes them feel vulnerable and they may try and defend themselves. Rather, enjoy them as non-domesticated animals that have chosen to spend their life with you while you are guests in the land we share.
