

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON HEALTH POLICY STATISTICS

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND, USA OCTOBER 7–9, 2015

The International Conference on Health Policy Statistics (ICHPS) aims to create interfaces between methodologists and health service researchers, health economists, and policy analysts so they can exchange and build on ideas they will disseminate to the broader health policy community.

THEME Statistical Science at the Forefront of Health Policy Research

REGISTRATION OPENS June 1, 2015

See www.amstat.org/meetings/ichps/2015 for details.

Sponsorship Opportunities: www.amstat.org/meetings/ichps/2015/sponsors.cfm

Organized by the Health Policy Statistics Section of the American Statistical Association

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

11 STATE-OF-THE-ART WORKSHOPS ON TOPICS SUCH AS:

- Causal Inference
- Comparative Effectiveness Research
- Patient-Reported Outcomes
- Predictive Modeling
- Real-World Observational Data
- Research Incubator & Synthesis
- Social Network Analysis

KEYNOTE & PLENARY SESSIONS SPEAKERS

- Gail R. Wilensky, Economist and Senior Fellow, Project HOPE
- Marc L. Berger, Vice President of Real World Data and Analytics, Pfizer Inc.
- Constantine A. Gatsonis, Henry Ledyard Goddard University Professor and Head of the Center for Statistical Sciences, Brown University

AN ARRAY OF INVITED, TOPIC- CONTRIBUTED, CONTRIBUTED, AND POSTER SESSIONS WITH TOPICS SUCH AS:

- Bayesian Methods
- Causal Inference
- Decision Analysis
- Medical Record Linkage
- Meta-Analysis
- Personalized Medicine
- Real-World Observational Studies

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON HEALTH POLICY STATISTICS

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND, USA OCTOBER 7–9, 2015

THEME Statistical Science at the Forefront of Health Policy Research

The International Conference on Health Policy Statistics (ICHPS) aims to create interfaces between methodologists and health service researchers, health economists, and policy analysts so they can exchange and build on ideas they will disseminate to the broader health policy community.

CONFERENCE PROGRAM

- Keynote and plenary sessions
- Invited, topic-contributed, and contributed sessions
- Workshops intended to provide research training and career development in the methods, resources, and applications at the forefront of contemporary health policy research

REGISTRATION OPENS June 1, 2015

Student awards available

See www.amstat.org/meetings/ichps/2015 for details.

Organized by the Health Policy Statistics Section of the American Statistical Association