Travel logistics to Ultima Thule Lodge:

Your visit to Ultima Thule begins and ends in McCarthy, Alaska. We provide roundtrip transfer flights between the lodge and the village airstrip at McCarthy.

PLAN TO MEET YOUR THULE CONNECTION FLIGHT AT 4:00pm on arrival day.

Here are several options for getting to McCarthy.

- Anchorage (ANC) is the major hub for all Domestic and International flights.
- CHARTER FLIGHTS to McCarthy – Shared charter flights from ANCHORAGE for our lodge guests can be arranged by Ultima Thule at an additional rate. Flight time is 1 – 2.5 hours depending on type of aircraft. Shared charter flights will depart Anchorage between 2:00-3:00pm on arrival day and will return to Anchorage between 5:00 - 7:00pm on departure day (times for Custom Packages are different). Exact time and location for charter flights will be confirmed with guests the same week as scheduled travel according to number of passengers, weather and logistics.
Private charters from Anchorage or other locations are also available and vary in cost.*
- DRIVING – Expect 4.5 hours from Anchorage to Chitina where the paved road ends. From Chitina a 60 mile gravel road takes you into the National Park to the village of McCarthy. This is an unmaintained section of road and rental car companies generally do not recommend travel beyond Chitina. Please research whether driving this road is right for you.

Alternately, you can leave your rental car in public parking at the Chitina Airstrip and book a flight with Wrangell Mountain Air into McCarthy. Wrangell Mountain Air offers a regularly scheduled air service from Chitina to McCarthy daily. Please check with them directly for schedule, rates and more information. Let them know you are staying at Ultima Thule so they can assist you in meeting your connection flight to at 4:00pm.

- Extra time in McCarthy – McCarthy and Kennecott are historic mining villages from the Alaskan Gold Rush Era which offer a range of accommodations and activity options. Some of our guests choose to add a night or additional hours in McCarthy to either end of their Ultima Thule adventure.
