You'll need to wedge in another 192-page hardcover volume in your Ian Wilson series!

Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 arrives in May 2019 to accompany its 1957 predecessor!

At the end of Speed Graphics and Steam 1957! your photographers promised to return in 1958

They do! And they travel together and cover TWICE as much territory! That means TWO volumes of Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! for your reading pleasure! Volume 1 documents the first three days. You'll revisit your favourite locales and locomotives from your 1957 adventure—and encounter new ones!

Pick up the story of CNR steam's last summer in Ontario

Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 will be your time machine, your portal to the past. Through its 192 pages you will walk into roundhouses full of steam locomotives, watch Pacifics and Northerns pulling away from station platforms, witness Ten Wheelers trundling way freights along branchlines.

In July 1958, your photographers have one task...

To capture maximum steam action with their Speed Graphics in mere days. To augment their artistry, your author describes the context of railway operations you'll witness in Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1.

For the only time we present the July 1958 Ontario trip by Rehor, Wood and Harwood in chronological detail

Your author pieced 50 rolls of Herb Harwood's negatives together to choreograph the action you'll enjoy! Harwood's negatives are now consigned to an institute which may take YEARS to catalogue them. But you'll discover gems from all three photographers in Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1.

On the evening of July 13...

You'll start at Windsor and head to Jeannettes Creek (with Wabash action), then experience night-time at the CNR and CPR London roundhouses.

Then on July 14 it's all CNR action...

St. Marys and Stratford, then the Brampton Subdivision (Shakespeare, Baden and Breslau) to Guelph for a parade of passenger trains. Palmerston via Elora and Alma. You'll encounter Ten Wheelers and more at Harriston, Wingham

Send me ____ copies of Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 at the all-inclusive special price of $69.95 CAD (Canadian addresses) or $69.95 USD (US & international addresses). The offer is good until April 30, 2019.

and Mildmay—and north from Hanover. Then down to Listowel, Brunner and back to St. Marys. Your night ends on the platform at Stratford.

Finally, on July 15...

You'll catch a CNR passenger train at Shakespeare before seeing Northern, Mountain, Hudson and Mikado classes at Brantford. Onondaga and Caledonia follow, with 4-8-4s finishing their careers on mixed trains. At Dundas, you'll glimpse a Mikado switching the Canada Crushed Stone plant, then we'll close with CNR and CPR steam and diesel action at Bayview.

Some views of this July 1958 trip you have seen before...

But never with a unifying narrative and moment-to-moment action. Where else in today's information overload can you find that context—except in this book? Certainly not on Facebook or photo-sharing sites!

The images for Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 have been scanned from negatives or professional 8x10s

And Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 will be produced in Ontario. The 80 lb. Endurance Gloss Text pages will showcase photography with the sharpness of darkroom prints. You'll enjoy more than 200 images in the largest format possible—everything from panoramic scenes to intricate details of locomotives. You'll pore over the photos, discovering something new every time! The 100 lb. laminated dust jacket will glisten on your shelf for decades!

Hallmarks of Ian Wilson's books you appreciate return with *Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1

For every locale depicted, you will have a track diagram. To enable a full picture of operations, you will have at your fingertips sections of employee time tables—the ones that govern railway men and your photographers.

Much steam-era history is never written down—and lost forever as eyewitnesses depart

But Herb Harwood and the late Don Wood related anecdotes to your author (who has also studied Rehor's memoirs). Their poignant and humorous recollections will be presented to you in the narrative accompanying their stellar Speed Graphic handiwork. Through Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 you'll believe you're riding in the backseat. As you turn pages, you'll anticipate action, as your photographers anticipate the action on the ground!

You can only look at so many static pictures of locomotives before you experience "art gallery syndrome"

No matter how gifted the photographer, you cannot appreciate each image afresh. But in Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 a story unfolds like a motion picture. Multiple views of locomotives and trains impart movement. This book is a portrayal of railway action. Every time you close the cover you'll cherish the memories contained therein as if you actually experienced them! Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 will be your scrapbook of a trip you took to Ontario with Rehor, Wood and Harwood in July 1958.

Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 is a tale of adventure

Like in 1957, you'll race hell-bent across southwestern Ontario, experiencing steam before it slips into the eternal night. Youth is fleeting. Wouldn't you drop everything now to be in your twenties, barrelling along country roads in Don Wood's Dodge, pursuing smoke across the horizon of a 1958 summer?

Train time is any time, as you know—at least in the 1950s

But don't leave your chair to enjoy action in Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1. Your photographers sacrifice sleep, food and comfort to capture hundreds of images—whether in the heat of the afternoon, the dew-infused morning, or the jet-black night.

In Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1 you'll witness a stage performance before your eyes

The setting you cannot experience today—roundhouses, stations, yards, coal-ing plants, water tanks, the steam era environment. And onto that stage, the locomotives and trains come forth like players. They are the actors, extinct for six decades and more, providing you with a command performance.

Have you ever lost yourself in a page-turner that rivets your attention, keeps you reading long into the night?

That will be your experience with Speed Graphics and Steam 1958! vol. 1. There will be a pleasing shift of tempos as you explore everything from Ten Wheelers on branchlines to Northerns and F-units on mainlines. Your author has arranged the photo spreads so you will have no need to flip back and forth through pages. Everything will unfold just as you need it. You won't want to put it down! (Apologizes in advance for lost sleep and missed appointments)
