JIM JONES

Jim Jones was an American preacher and faith healer turned cult leader who conspired with his inner circle to direct a mass murder-suicide of 918 of his followers in his jungle commune on 19 November 1978, Georgetown, Guyana.

"Jones' mother, Lynetta Jones, was a young anthropologist trying to decide between her career or marriage. A dream of her dead mother telling her she would bear a son who would right the wrongs of the world helped make her decision. She was convinced that her child was a messiah. His father, James Thurmond Jones, was a member of the Ku Klux Klan and died when Jim was young. His mother worked in a factory and kept the vision of her dream."

He was a passionate racial integrationist and adopted several non-white children, calling it his "rainbow family."

CHARLES MANSON

Charles Manson was an American criminal and cult leader. In mid-1967, he formed what became known as the "Manson Family", a quasi-commune based in California. His followers committed a series of nine murders at four locations in July and August 1969.

In 1971, he was convicted of first-degree murder and conspiracy to commit murder for the deaths of seven people, including the film actress Sharon Tate. The prosecution conceded that Manson never literally ordered the murders, but they contended that his ideology constituted an overt act of conspiracy.

OSHO

Osho was a controversial spiritual leader, teacher of Western New Age Thought. He led a growing ashram in India in the 1970's. In 1981, he moved to the US and established a center in Oregon. Almost immediately the movement ran into conflict with county residents and the state government. In 1985, in the wake of a series of serious crimes by his followers, including a mass food poisoning attack with salmonella bacteria and an aborted assassination plot to murder an attorney, Rajneesh alleged that his personal secretary Ma Anand Sheela and her close supporters had been responsible. He was later deported from the United States and 21 countries refused him entry. He eventually settled back in India at his Puna ashram.

STEVE JOBS

Pioneer of the personal computer revolution of the 1970s and 1980s and CEO of Apple, Inc. According to Psychology Today: "He was preoccupied with his sense of importance and his brilliance, he consistently damaged others by exploiting and bullying them and could be completely unempathetic to their feelings, he was envious of other's attention, he was arrogant and haughty, and he was controlling and manipulative. An examination of his interpersonal relationships suggested a 'borderline' level of self-other functioning, meaning that his sense of himself in relationship to others was fragmented and poorly structured, and was fraught with emotionally charged conflicts that led to erratic, dramatic, and extreme relational swings. All of this suggested deep ambivalences about intimacy and dependency--and a fundamentally insecure sense of self."

MADONNA

Known as the "Queen of Pop" since the 1980s, she is regarded as one of the most impactful figures in popular culture. Madonna is noted for her continual reinvention and versatility in music production, songwriting, and visual presentation. She has pushed the boundaries of artistic expression in mainstream music, while remaining completely in charge of every aspect of her career. Early in her career she was asked what her ambition was and she replied "To rule the world."

SAM VAKNIN

Sam Vaknin is a writer and teacher of narcissism and psychopathy, diagnosed with NPD. In his view, narcissists have lost their "true self", the core of their personality, which has been replaced by delusions of grandeur, a "false self". "The False Self replaces the narcissist's True Self and is intended to shield him from hurt and narcissistic injury by self-imputing omnipotence ... The narcissist pretends that his False Self is real and demands that others affirm this confabulation," meanwhile keeping his real-life imperfect true self under wraps. He believes that disproportionate numbers of pathological narcissists are at work in the most influential reaches of society, such as medicine, finance and politics.

KEITH RANIERE

Keith Raniere was a cult leader and the founder of NXIVM, a multi-level marketing organization of personal development seminars, recruiting billionaires, celebrities and socialites. However, the organization also faced multiple accusations of systemic sexual abuse of female members by Raniere and members of his inner circle, where women were branded with his initials, forced into exclusive sexual relationships with him and blackmailed. In 2019, Raniere was convicted of federal crimes including racketeering, sex trafficking of children, conspiracy, and conspiracy to commit forced labor, all related to a secret society within NXIVM known as The Vow.

BENTINHO MASSARO

Bentinho Massaro is an online spiritual influencer with a devoted fandom that embraces him as a godlike figure. According to The Guardian: "he's been accused him of using his platforms to hook vulnerable seekers into endless engagement and blind support. He has a plan to build a fully enlightened society by 2035 and claims to vibrate at a higher frequency than other humans. He uses language that makes little sense to those outside the group but becomes "loaded" with connotations and meaning for those on the inside. He offers up his own "sacred science", a set of dogmatic principles that claim to embody the truth about human behavior and psychology. And he assumes the position of an omniscient leader with a "God's-eye view" whose insight can, alone, guide others to an otherwise inaccessible truth."

BENTINHO MASSARO

Bentino was diagnosed as NPD and meets all the qualifications as a narcissist:

Has a grandiose sense of self-importance (exaggerates achievements, expects to be recognized as superior without commensurate achievements)

Is preoccupied with fantasies of unlimited power, success, brilliance, beauty or ideal love

Believes he is “special” and can only be understood by similarly special, high status people

Requires excessive admiration

Has a sense of entitlement

Is interpersonally exploitative

Lacks empathy

Is envious of others or believes others are envious of him/her

Shows arrogant, haughty behaviors or attitudes
