

CONTENTS.

BOOK I.

Plan of the work. Discovery of Newfoundland. First voyage of the French to America. First voyage of Verrazani. His second voyage. His first landing. Singular adventure of one of his sailors. Verrazani perishes in a third voyage. Ignorance of the circumstances. First voyage of Jacques Cartier. He returns to France. His second voyage. Description of Port St. Nicholas. Origin of the name of St. Lawrence, borne by the gulf and river of Canada. Isle Anticosti and the Saguenay. Isle Orleans. River St. Croix, or Jacques Cartier. Island of Montreal. The village of Hochelaga. Reception which the French met there. Cartier visits the mountain which stands on that island. Origin of the name of Montreal. Scurvy carries off a part of the French. The account of Canada given to Francis I. by Cartier. Opinion of his memoirs. Canada is neglected in France. Remarks on some passages in Cartier's memoirs. Black men in the northern parts of Canada. The pigmies of Newfoundland. The inhabitants north of Hudson's Bay; their mode of navigation resembling that of the Esquimaux. What an Esquimaux woman, a slave, related of some monstrous men. Mr. de Roberval is appointed Viceroy of Canada. His first voyage to that country. His second voyage. His last voyage, in which he and his brother perish. Expedition to Brazil, and the cause of its failure. Admiral Coligni attempts to establish a French Protestant colony in Florida. Extent of that country. Mr. de Ribaut leader of the expedition. He takes possession of French Florida. His discoveries. He builds a fort. Description of French Florida. Where the wealth of the Floridians came from. Character of these tribes. Their religion and manners. Honors paid to their chiefs. The ministers of their religion. Animals found in the country. Trees peculiar to it. Sassafras. Simples. Ribaut returns to France. Singular feast of the Floridians. Misconduct of Captain Albert, commandant in Florida during Ribaut's absence. Killed by his own people. Extremity to which the colony is reduced. The settlers embark to return to France. They eat one of the party. What became of them. New expedition to Florida. Laudonniere arrives in Florida. Veneration of the Indians for the arms of France. Laudonniere explores the country around the River May. Beauty of the country. The French allow themselves to be persuaded that there are mines in Florida. They imprudently plunge into war. They continue to explore the country. They deliberate on the site of the colony. Fort Caroline. Error of historians and geographers on this point. Description of Caroline. Conduct of the Indians towards the French.

BOOK II.

New discoveries in French Florida. Strange custom of the Indians. Laudonniere refuses to accompany an Indian chief in war. Ceremony of the Floridians before setting out on the war path. Victory of Saturiowa. What passed between him and Laudonniere as to the