

CONTENTS.

---

BOOK VIII.

Progress of religion among the upper Iroquois. The Onondagas ill-treat the Hurons. The Iroquois conspire against the French. The conspiracy discovered. Indian adoption. Retreat of the French from Onondaga. The Iroquois renew hostilities. The Viscount d'Argenson, governor-general. Arrival of the first bishop of New France. Change in the ecclesiastical government of Canada. Parish priests in New France. Montreal Island ceded to the Seminary of St. Sulpice. Seminary of Quebec founded. Various regulations as to tithes. The patronage of parishes vested in the bishop. Hospital founded at Montreal. The Institute of Sisters of the Congregation. Several new nations discovered. Conversion of some Esquimaux. Various discoveries. Affairs between the Sioux and Hurons. Particulars as to the Sioux. Extremity to which the colony is reduced. Iroquois hostilities. Diseases and phenomena. Good news from the Iroquois country. Iroquois deputies at Montreal. Father le Moyne agrees to accompany them to their country. The Baron d'Avaugour succeeds the Viscount d'Argenson. Voyage of two Jesuits to the North. Description of Lake St. John. Extraordinary malady. Father le Moyne's reception at Onondaga. Character of Garakonthié. Refined policy of this Indian. Speech of Father le Moyne in a council of three cantons. Resolution of that body. Eulogium on Sieur Hertel. Garakonthié arrives at Montreal. His reception. Peace seems to recede. New Iroquois hostilities. Adventure of Father Mesnard. His death. General estimation of his sanctity. Tragical death of his attendant. Father le Moyne returns to Montreal with all the French prisoners. Garakonthié's course. Mr. Boucher goes to court to expose the necessities of New France. The king sends aid. Abuses of the liquor trade. Irregular conduct of the Baron d'Avaugour. Calumnies invented on this point against the bishop and missionaries. Scandals among the Indians. The Bishop of Petreæ lays his complaints before the king. Surprising phenomena. Predictions of an earthquake. It begins. Its effects. No one killed and all converted. New propositions of the Iroquois. Arrival of a new governor-general and commissary at Quebec. How justice had been hitherto administered in New France. Present form of the Su-