

- TALON, Indian chief, see BLANC, JOHN LE, v., p. 189.
- TAMAROA, Illinois tribe, passed by la Sale, iii., p. 214, n.; mission among, v., p. 130, n.
- TANESTHION, Seneca chief, taken by Otawawas, v., p. 135.
- TANGIBAOS, or White Corn Indians, Louisiana tribe, iii., p. 214, n.; destroyed by Quinipissas, v., p. 123.
- TANNER, FATHER MATHIAS, Jesuit, Notice of his SOCIETAS MILITANS, i., p. 82.
- TANNERY successfully established, iii., p. 99.
- TANUXIMA, island in Japan, i., p. 40.
- TAONDECHOREN, JOSEPH, a Huron taken with Jogues, ii., p. 163; zeal and noble answer of, ib.
- TAOUACHAS, Louisiana tribe, sing calumet to l'Epinal, vi., p. 39.
- TAPIA, i., p. 41.
- TARBELLS, taken at Groton, chiefs at Sault St. Louis, v., p. 161, n.
- TAREHA, Oneida chief, brings proposals of peace to Frontenac, iv., p. 238; Governor's reply, 239; insolent proposals on next visit, 244; his reception, 245; returns to Quebec and is ill-received, 254.
- TARTARIN, F. RENÉ, Jesuit, arrives, vi., p. 76, n.
- TAST, CAPT. DU, sent to Catarocouy with convoy, iii., p. 249.
- TAST, CAPTAIN DU, arrives at Quebec with a convoy of 14 vessels, iv., p. 200; does not follow chief orders, but cruises off Gulf of St. Lawrence, 201.
- TAST, ENSIGN DU, midshipman serving as ensign, under d'Iberville, dies of pleurisy from exposure at Pemkuit, v., p. 28.
- TATAHWISSERE, Oneida of Sault St. Louis, his report, v., p. 49.
- TATEGUENONDAHI, Seneca chief, defeated on Ottawa, iv., p. 217, n.
- TAWERAHAT, Colden's form for OUREOHARÉ, which see.
- TAXOUS, Abénaqui chief, takes Groton, iv., p. 257; taken, kills some and escapes, v., p. 23.
- TAZMAN, ABEL, discoveries of, i., p. 56.
- TAZMANIA discovered, i., p. 56.
- TCHACTAS, see CHOCTAWS.
- TEANANSTAYAE, or St. JOSEPH'S, HURON TOWN, destroyed by Iroquois, ii., p. 210.
- TEAONTORAI, perhaps Noquet Islands, ii., p. 271, n.
- TEAOS, Texas tribe, iv., pp. 78, n., 90, n.
- TEBACHI, Indian hostage, ii., p. 31, n.
- TECHOUÉGUEN, or CHOUÉGUEN, the Oswego, iii., pp. 218, 219, n.
- TEGAHROUITA, CATHARINE, Iroquois virgin, iii., p. 117; famous for miracles wrought at her tomb, iv., p. 295; her life, 283; known as La Bonne Catherine, p. 283, 296.
- TEGANANOKOA, STEPHEN, sketch of, iv., p. 296.
- TEGANEOUT, Iroquois chief, seized by de la Barre, iii., p. 249; did not speak at the Famine, 254, n.; speech at general congress, v., p. 144.
- TEGANISSORENS, Onondaga chief, at Montreal with deputies of the Five Nations, iii., p. 221; sent to blind French, ib.; ambassador for peace, taken on way by Le Rat, but released, iv., p. 13; Frontenac confides in, 52; died a Christian, 247; useful to colony, ib.; at Quebec with eight deputies, 250; presents Frontenac a belt from Garakonthié, ib.; Frontenac's courtesy to, ib.; proposes restoration of Fort Frontenac, 251; Frontenac shows irritation at his not returning, 253; his reception of French ambassadors at Onondaga, v., p. 103; conduct at a council of Five Nations, to English and French envoys, 105; undertakes to bring in all French prisoners, 108; complains to de Callieres of an Ottawa hostility, 135; interview, 136; returns to Onondaga with French envoys, 138; speech to them and English, 140; unable to restore prisoners, ib.; promises to labor for neutrality during war between France and England, and to retain missionaries, 160; advice to Vaudreuil, 239; died at Sault St. Louis, 247.
- TEGARETOUAN, chief of Iroquois of the Mountain, killed in Denonville's Seneca battle, iii., p. 289, n.
- TEGUALAGUENTA, MARY TERESA, iv., p. 290.
- TEHARONHIAWAGON or AGRESEROUÉ, great Iroquois deity, iii., p. 157.
- TEISSIER, or TESSIER, or TEXITER, pilot of the Belle, iv., p. 83, n., 86, n.; goes with la Sale, 89; approves of Morangét's death,