

came on Sunday, for which reason at the hospital they sang, for the benediction, the litanies about 5 o'clock; and on the Day of the feast, at the Ursulines', they sang vespers after the hymn, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

On the 4th, two Abnauquois Captains,—the principal one of whom, who was a Christian, was named Claude,—together with Noel and Jean baptiste, came to find Monsieur the governor, in order to beg him to make arrangements for a black gown to go to the Abnauquois, to Instruct them. They said that, if that were once done, they would no longer come here, and would give no offense to Monsieur the governor regarding the trade. Monsieur the governor sent them back to me, and I put them off till Autumn, in order to take time to consider the matter. They were given a bag of Indian corn for a Parting Gift, some tobacco, some fish, etc.; and we gave them a feast, and also one to the principal persons of Sillery. Jean baptiste and Noel at the same time begged Monsieur the governor to give them a present for covering the dead of the Autumn,—to stop their Young men from going to war; Monsieur the governor did so.

On the 8th, a little savage girl named Charité, aged 5½, died at the Ursulines'; she was interred at the french Cemetery, where her Father was buried. She was borne thither by 4 domestics of the Ursulines, with 4 others bearing torches, and 2 french girls and two savage girls holding the corners of the pall. Monsieur the prior went first, bearing a cross
