

sailed; father Quentin was the only one of Ours on board. With him returned robert hache; Item, Monsieur de maisonneuve, Monsieur giffar, Monsieur Tronquet,—and all firmly resolved that they would strive to obtain some regulation for their affairs, each one seeking his own private Interests. It seemed that a crisis was likely to occur, on account of monsieur le Tardif's delay.

Departure of the vessels.

At the same time, also, the vessel went back which had brought Monsieur le Tardif, and one Lavalée went over again, who had come with Monsieur le Tardif.

With them returned the sons of Monsieur de repentigny, Monsieur Couillar, and monsieur giffar, and the nephews of Monsieur deschastelets,—all rogues, for the most part, who had played a thousand tricks on the other voyage; and they all were given high salaries.

They are making a new oven and a brewery at Sillery.

Buildings.

We begin with 6 men to quarry stone, and to prepare the site for the clergy-house and the Church.

They caught, this year, forty thousand eels, most of which were sold at half an écu the hundred. They began to fish for them in August, and they finished about the 9th or 10th of november.

Eel fishery; 40 thousand.

In october, father le Jeune exhibited a picture to the Savages at Sillery, which had come from the queen,—containing her portrait, that of the king, etc. At the same time, they were given three Blankets and three

Presents to the savages.

Portraits of the king and of the queen, at Sillery.