

I gave one sans quartier 1,556 porcelain beads to sell for me, from which he will receive for his trouble one-fourth of the proceeds of the sale, on which I have received 4 livres of Castor.

*

I owe Monsieur navarre 55 panes of glass, 6 by 7, half unbroken and half broken; I have returned him eleven.

*

All The above reckoned up, I owe here 335 livres, and 120 livres are due me, in which are included the 72 livres that Father bon owes me. As niagara would not accept Them from him, I owed that sum to niagara, and I was obliged to borrow Them from valet, to whom niagara owed them.

I have finished paying meloche for The stable that he put up for me; he is also paid for all my buildings.

I owe gambille's wife for 200 tacks, at 10 sols a hundred; also, to the same, for a pipe with its tongs; she owes me 10 sols for the collection for the blessed bread.

Barte owes me a livre of vermilion and 3 pairs of mitasses.

Louison owes me for 20 masses for his son.

I owe champagne 20 livres, for oil and tallow.

I became surety to meloche for Mademoiselle royale, for a minot of indian corn.

I owe cecyre for carting 25 pieces of lumber for sawing.

I owe Moran 20 livres, for carting 49 pieces of lumber to be sawed at meloche's mill.

I owe Louison Campeau for 24 fowl, Including Those mentioned above; he gave me The last 4 larded.

I gave la forêt's wife a blanket, size 2 and one-half points,¹¹ for a very large bladder of oil which she

*