

he would not come until the officers went and got him. He is very thin but not weak.

I must stop for there is another person coming. Please say to Therese that if I can I shall write to her before this vessel sails, but if it goes too soon for me she must excuse me until the next opportunity. Give her my love, also Alice and my brothers. Adieu, dear Mother, may God bless you is the prayer of

Your Affectionate
Madelaine Askin.

Addressed: M^{rs} Askin Amherstburg

67 John Askin Jr. died in Amherstburg, Jan. 1, 1820, and was buried in Sandwich, January 3. Burial certificate in St. John's Church Register.

68 James W. Little was the fourth child of John Little and his wife Elizabeth, for whom see B. H. R., I, 305, and a brother of Eleanor Little, wife of John Kinzie, for whom see ibid., 305-306. James Little was a resident and merchant of Sandwich in the period subsequent to the War of 1812. On Jan. 4, 1819, he married there Catherine McGregor of Sandwich, daughter of John and Mary (or Martha) McGregor. A daughter, Jane, was born to them, Oct. 5, 1819. See St. John's Church Register, and Burton, Forsyth-Kinzie-Little genealogy.
