York Indians, a tract of land bounded as follows: Beginning on the said treaty line, at the old mill-dam on Fox River, and thence extending up along Fox River to the little Rapid Croche; from thence running a north-west course three miles; thence on a line running parallel with the several courses of Fox River, and three miles distant from the river, until it will intersect a line running on a north-west course, commencing at a point one mile above the Grand Chute; thence on a line running north-west, so far as will be necessary to include, between the said last line and the line described as the south-western boundary line of the five hundred thousand acres in the treaty aforesaid, the quantity of two hundred thousand acres; and thence running north-east until it will intersect the line forming the south-western boundary line aforesaid; and from thence along the said line to the old milldam, or place of beginning, containing two hundred thousand Excepting and reserving therefrom the privilege of Chas. A. Grignon for erecting a mill on Apple creek, etc., as approved by the Department of War, on the twenty-second day of April, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-one, and all confirmed private land claims on the Fox River. The lines of said tract of land so granted, to be run, marked, and laid off without delay, by a commissioner to be appointed by the President of the United And that in exchange for the above, a quantity of land equal to that which is added to the south-western side, shall be taken off from the north-eastern side of the said tract, described in that article, on the Oconto creek, to be run, marked, and determined by the commissioner to be appointed by the President of the United States, as aforesaid, so that the whole number of acres to be granted to the Six Nations and St. Regis tribe of Indians, shall not exceed the quantity of five hundred thousand acres."

Of which terms and conditions, the several tribes of the New York Indians signified their acceptance and approval, in an article of agreement entered into with Gov. Porter, and signed by their head men, on the 27th day of October, 1832, in the follow-
