

Mosinee (Little Bull), 6,000,000; Eau Plaine, 3,000,000; and Warren's Mill, 3,000,000.

"The county at the present time is divided into three towns; Wausau, Mosinee and Eau Claire. The village of Wausau is the county seat. It has a beautiful location on the Wisconsin river, and now contains between 700 and 800 inhabitants. It is fast building up, and unlike many western villages, the buildings are all good and substantial. As above stated, at this place is manufactured about twenty million feet of lumber: of this amount the mills of W. D. McIndoe cut about one half. In addition to that, he has now ready a mill for manufacturing siding, shingles, pickets, lath, &c. Probably the best and safest water power in the State, is found at Wausau. The whole river may be used, and still be perfectly safe from high water.

"At Little Bull Falls is a newly laid out village, and some fine buildings are now being built. This is the terminus of steamboat navigation from Stevens' Point. The Company have a boat building, to run above the Falls to Wausau, in connexion with the one from Stevens' Point, which will be put on the river in the spring. A road from Wausau to Portage county line, will be completed about the first of July next, which will equal any of the best Macadamized roads in the State.

"In the county is considerable Government land yet to be had at seventy-five cents per acre, and one dollar and twenty-five per acre; though the entries for the past eight months have been extensive, and nearly all by actual settlers, and for farming purposes.

"A peculiar characteristic of the country is its general healthfulness. The water is pure and soft, the atmosphere clear, and the climate salubrious. No sudden changes from heat to cold, nor vice versa. Winter weather is steady; spring comes and takes complete possession, and winter yields without a struggle. No county holds out greater inducements to
