

The prospects of Iola are flattering. The Stevens' Point State road will pass through the place, which will tend to make it an inland village of growing importance. Iola is in an excellent wheat-growing district. Farmers emigrating to this section of the State, are invited to look at the country about here, for it is a well known fact, that Waupaca county contains farming lands equal to any in the State. There is also good water-power in the vicinity, which is capable of being made very valuable, and is awaiting the purse of the capitalist to improve it. Iola is bound to thrive.

Ogdensburg

Is fifteen miles west of New London, eight miles from Waupaca, and seven miles west of Meiklejohn's, on the south branch of the Little Wolf, three years old, which western enterprise is starting into existence before thousands of our good, dreamy, busy city folks ever heard of such a place. C. S. Ogden, from whom it derives its name, has made improvements here, which are an honor to the place. Ogdensburg offers good inducements to farmers, and is bound to be an important town. It is surrounded on all sides "by a rich farming country, as an evidence of which, I was presented by Mr. J. C. Williams, occupying a fine prairie farm a short distance from the site of the town, with several ears of corn, averaging a yield of over fifty bushels to the acre, and much of it standing in the field, before harvesting, twelve or fourteen feet high. The same gentleman, also, raised four hundred bushels of potatoes to the acre."

Scandinavia

At the head of White Lake, is six miles from Ogdensburg, and is in the midst of an industrious and enterprising class of Norwegians, whose settlement extends up the valley to the distance of about twenty miles. Excellent fish abound in the Lake, and are easily taken. Excellent mill sites may be obtained here.
