

of fashionable life, she is possessed of a strong mind and a kind heart, ever ready to assist those to whom her great experience can afford relief. She is still living, one of the best of wives and mothers, the warmest of friends, and kindest of neighbors. May she long live to enjoy the happiness and love to which her courage and goodness justly entitle her.