

Episcopal Missionary Society of this country. Hon. A. G. Ellis, now of Stevens' Point, taught in the school for a number of years. Rev. Richard F. Cadle, acted as Superintendent from 1827 to 1832. At one time there were in the school 129 children of full and mixed Indian blood, representing ten different tribes. They were received between the ages of four and fourteen years, and were taught habits of industry, the elements of a good English education, and a knowledge of the Christian religion. Six teachers were sometimes employed. In 1828 commodious buildings were erected at the cost of $9,000. In the branch missions, among the Oneidas, at Duck Creek, and the Monomonees at Neenah, but little or nothing was effected. This school was in operation for sixteen years, and influenced, in many respects, all the other educational movements in the vicinity of Green Bay.

Before noticing other schools, more should be said in regard to the labors and character of Mr. Cadle. It seems he had the fullest confidence of the Society which endeavored to build up at Green Bay a large and successful mission; and he is mentioned by those in the State who knew him, in terms of the highest esteem. Modest and well educated, he was energetic, self-denying and devoted. Opposed and persecuted in his missionary work, he toiled the more earnestly, and was beloved by his school. After laboring among the Indians in another field, acting for several years as chaplain and schoolmaster at two of our military posts, he returned East, and died sometime since in the State of New York.

Near Green Bay, a Catholic mission was formed in 1830. It was aided somewhat by the Government and the Monomonee tribe, among whom the school was maintained. It was continued four years under the charge of Rev. Samuel Mazzuchelli, who was a Jesuit and an Italian priest, zealous and talented, and toiled with unremitting ardor, though with no great success in his position. Besides his gigantic missionary efforts afterward in the state of Iowa, in the vicinity of Galena, Illinois, and in the southwestern part of our State, he founded the Female College at Sinsinawa Mound, and the Academy at
