Pennsylvania Delegation

24. ROBERT MORRIS, A. L. S., March 18, 1795, one page, in good condition—acknowledging the receipt of the sword of the late Admiral Paul Jones, which Mr. Morris says he “presented to Com. John Barry, the senior officer of the present American navy, who will never disgrace it.”

25. BENJAMIN RUSH, A. L. S., July 25, 1796, two pages, in good condition.

26. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, A. L. S., London, May 2, 1770—addressed to Noble Wimberly Jones, speaker of the assembly, Georgia:

“SIR.—Your favor of February 21, was duly delivered to me by Mr. Preston, I immediately bespoke the Mace agreeable to your orders, and was assured it should be worked upon with diligence, so that I hope to have it ready to send with the Gowns by a ship that I understand goes directly to Georgia sometime next month. By the estimation of the Jeweller, who undertook it, the cost will not exceed £80. What the Gowns will amount to, I have not yet learnt; but suppose £100 will be more than sufficient for the whole. I esteem myself highly honored by your Government in being appointed, as you inform me, a second time their Agent. I shall rejoice in any opportunity of rendering effectual service to the Province. I beg you will present my thankful acknowledgments to the several branches of your Legislature, and assure them of my faithful endeavors in the execution of any commands I may receive from them.”

27. JOHN MORTON, D. S., a commission as speaker of the Pennsylvania assembly, July 8, 1776, in good condition.
