³⁹ John McDonald was a British soldier, who was assistant barrack-master under the last English commandant. After the troops retired to St. Joseph's Island, he seems to have remained at Mackinac.—Ed.

⁴⁰ Father Gabriel Richard has been called "the apostle of Michigan." Born in Saintes, the ancient capital of the Santones, France (1761), he was educated at Angers, and consecrated to the priesthood in Paris (1791). A member of the Sulpician order, the hostilities of the French Revolution drove him into exile. In 1792 he came to Baltimore, and was sent to minister to the French of the Illinois. He served there for six years, traveling in a wide circuit from Ste. Geneviève to Cahokia.
