

Rik Andrew

INDEPENDENT TRANSPORT CONSULTANT
LEWISHAM

A founder member, I produced London's first Cycle Guide: 'On Your Bike!' I led campaigning in Richmond, SW sector and Zone 1 for cross-LB continuity and safer routes. I initiated the Greenways programme, negotiating new parks routes & towpath upgrades. I coordinated LCC's Cycle Hire and Superhighways submissions, assessing Route Quality with local experts. I want LCC to be less reactive, to set the agenda.

Mustafa Arif

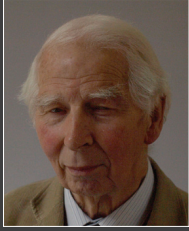

COMPUTING ENGINEER/COMPANY DIRECTOR
BARNET

Last year, the board asked me to chair the new Campaigns & Active Membership Committee, leading on campaigns. We've put a greater emphasis on visible campaigning as well as democratic decision-making involving members. If re-elected I'll seek to continue this work. My focus will be to ensure the Go Dutch campaign is visible, vibrant, engaging, true to the member vote, and ultimately effective.

Alastair Hanton

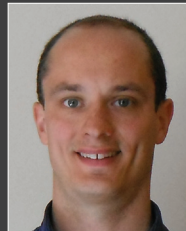

RETIRED FINANCE PROFESSIONAL
SOUTHWARK

I seek re-election as a trustee. At present, I convene a joint group - with CTC, RoadPeace & Living Streets - which reinforces LCC's No More Lethal Lorries campaign. I'm a member of Transport for London's Cycle Safety Working Group, and chair that group's subgroup on Lorry Operation and Design. I serve on LCC's Income Generation and Campaigns & Active Membership committees. I'm active in Southwark Cyclists.

Jon Irwin

EVENT ORGANISER/BUSINESSMAN
WANDSWORTH

I've become a very active member of LCC over the past year. I also run my own business, and co-chair Wandsworth Environmental Forum. Professionally, I'm an event organiser, which means 'I make things happen'. As a member of the board, I would be able to reach out to the business community, selling the business case for cycling, and helping to develop a world-class cycle-friendly city in partnership with them.

Anne Kenrick

SECRETARY-GENERAL OF THE FRANCO-BRITISH COUNCIL
SOUTHWARK

My passion for cycling in London has developed over 45 years as a child, student, employee, mother and campaigner. My experience researching and writing a book to encourage children to cycle to school contributes to my work with LCC, and my job running a charity in the European context brings something new to the trustees deliberations. I always bike to work and have developed a weekend road-bike habit.

Tony Levene

FINANCIAL JOURNALIST
HARROW

An active member of LCC since 1986, I'm the Harrow local group co-ordinator. In that capacity, I regularly meet council officers and the media. I want to work towards a louder and more coherent voice for local groups, especially in outer London, with more guidance in campaigning and other issues to help less experienced groups grow. I'm a national newspaper journalist with finance and publicity skills to offer LCC.

David Love

SOCIAL ENTREPRENEUR
WANDSWORTH

Cycling in London is on a roll, yet much campaigning effort is undermined by fear of traffic, which remains the principal barrier to growing UK cycling towards north European levels. I've used my six years on the LCC board, its committees and external bodies working to make riding a bike safer and more appealing, with cyclists sharing the same status as other road users. There is much still to do...

Stephen Taylor

SOFTWARE DESIGNER
ISLINGTON

After decades of cheap cars and petrol, a healthier more liveable city is becoming a real prospect. I've been cycling in London since the 1970s. Professionally, I've held positions in sales and marketing, as well as political and community projects. At present, I'm a computer software designer. I want to help the London Cycling Campaign play a full role in creating the Greater London of the future.

Ray Whitehouse

RETIRED IT DIRECTOR
HAVERING

My background is in IT and business management, and my last role was IT director in local government. This has given me a good understanding of partnership working and charities, including grants and fundraising. I retired in April 2010, and since then have rediscovered my interest in cycling, having just ridden a London to Paris ride. My aim is make London a safe biking environment for all ages.

Christian Wolmar

WRITER AND BROADCASTER
ISLINGTON

I'm a writer and broadcaster specialising in transport (www.christianwolmar.co.uk), and was on the board of Cycling England before the government's disgraceful decision to abolish it. The recent massive growth in cycling offers a fabulous opportunity to make London a true cycling city. 2012's mayoral elections are crucial, and LCC will play a vital role in realising this potential. We must develop the right policies.
