

Biography

Tracey Nicholson

Tracey Nicholson is a fashion stylist and consultant based in New York.

Originally from Northern Ireland, Tracey studied at Central Saint Martins London, and following graduation she joined the team at Another Magazine and Dazed & Confused. After moving to New York she began her career in the US assisting at American Vogue.

Tracey's aesthetic is modern, dynamic and precise. She represents an independent and subtly confident vision, with every element thoroughly considered and executed. She counts among her clients Nike, Lacoste, Tod's, Uniqlo, L'Oreal, Costume National, Swarovski, Helmut Lang and Theory. She has also worked on runway presentations and lookbooks for 1205, Topshop, Whistles, Felipe Oliveira Baptista and Rosetta Getty.

Tracey holds the title of New York Fashion Editor at i-D Magazine and also contributes to T: The New York Times Style Magazine, W, American and British Vogue, Modern Weekly China and V Magazine.