UNITED COOPERATIVE SUPPORTS PULASKI K9 UNIT

PULASKI, WIS. – United Cooperative donated $5,000 to the Pulaski K9 Unit. After eight years of service, Raider, the current K9 police dog is set to retire in August, along with his handler, Officer Jim Tinlin. K-9 units are key components in narcotics, tracking and suspect apprehension.

The Pulaski Police Department set a goal to raise a minimum of $80,000 for its K9 expenses and dog and officer K9 police training. United Cooperative is proud to help cover a portion of this goal, said David Cramer, President and CEO. “United Cooperative appreciates the safety resources that are in our communities to support our owners and customers” he added.
