

January 21, 2020

Corn and soybean futures closed lower today while wheat closed higher. Commodity funds were net sellers of 5k corn and 8k soybean contracts and net buyers of 7k wheat contracts.

USDA reports that exporters shipped just 13.6 million bushels of corn in the week ending January 16, with marketing year to date shipments at 371 million bushels, down from nearly 812 million bushels at this time last year. Soybean shipments to all destinations totaled 44.1 million bushels in the week ending January 16, with 20.2 million of that total destined for China. China has extensive supplies of Brazilian new-crop supplies for delivery from February forward, so U.S. shipments are expected to decline in the weeks ahead.

Page 2 provides you links to fact sheets and detailed text of the US/China Phase 1 agreement.

All USDA reports delayed 1 day this week due to the MLK holiday Monday.
