

Happy Monday,

Corn and beans both negative here at the morning break. Dollar down, crude lower from Friday. Did not think we'd see a down market this morning, when the news of Iran launching drones towards Israel broke over the weekend. Seems like Iran was just posturing in retaliation to their consulate in Syria being hit a couple weeks ago. Since they did something they can propagate to their people that they are not to be messed with. Beautiful weather past two days carrying into the start of the week. Already lots of planting activity this morning on the drive into work. Thunderstorms likely tomorrow afternoon before cold front moves in. 6-10 looks pretty favorable for planting locally, rain chances aplenty 10-14 day at the moment. Post- open more weakness creeping in to the market.

GH