

Happy Friday,

Corn and beans higher at the break off of overnight highs. Israel launched a retaliatory attack against Iran. Seems like it was a limited response, but will continue to keep tensions high in that part of the world. Market reacted to that news overnight. Drier weather in South America next week. Safrinha corn crop starting to feel some stress in areas. Storms though the area last night, dry weather expected through Tuesday. Could be a pretty choppy trading session today.
