Event Details

The Pathways to Prosperity Partnership will hold its second annual conference at the Delta Hotel in downtown Montreal starting at 8:30 a.m. on November 24th and finishing at 5:00 p.m. on November 25th, with Board and Standing Committee meetings on November 26th. The conference immediately precedes the Fall Consultation Conference of the Canadian Council for Refugees in Gatineau, Quebec for those who may be interested in attending both meetings.

Who Should Attend

Attendees will include P2P researchers, settlement agency representatives, LIP and RIF coordinators, graduate students, and policy and program officials from the three orders of government.

P2P is pleased to announce that we are not charging registration fees for conference attendance.

In response to the feedback received from delegates at last year's conference, the 2014 P2P conference will include 6 plenary sessions, 11 workshops and roundtable discussions, and a poster session:

Plenaries

1. Regionalization and immigration to communities outside of metropolises
2. Overview of the P2P co-investigator led projects to be launched this fall
3. Pre-arrival services and information
4. Evaluation strategies for place-based networks, including Local Immigration Partnerships, Réseaux en immigration francophone, and other place-based networks
5. Official language minority immigrants
6. Changing entry pathways, including students, temporary workers, and transition classes

Partnership are primary and secondary research, knowledge transfer, education, and mutual learning. Our activities are both national in scope and region-specific, with a particular focus on comparative perspectives and best practices. Our methods bring together academic scholarship with local expertise and detailed government program knowledge. This allows us to provide practical, empirically-based advice on policies, programs and agency practices.
