

Alternate Anchoring Systems

The method shown in this chapter is only one system for anchoring the home against wind loads. Other systems are acceptable provided that they are designed by a registered professional engineer, installed per the approved anchor manufacturer's installation instructions, and accepted by the local jurisdiction. (See set-up manual I-4.10).

The Oliver Pan System is an acceptable anchoring system if home set-up follows the anchoring manufacturer's installation instructions.

Thanks,

Jerry Benton
Engineering
1-229-873-6631

"A Company Built on a Rock Foundation"