Community braces rain to tour $27.1 million facility on S.R. 14

By BOB GAEJENS Staff Writer

Several hundred people braved the cold and drizzle Saturday afternoon to help celebrate the opening of the new $27.1 million Streetsboro High School on S.R. 14.

“I would like to thank all of you, the community, because back in 2013, you passed the bond issue that brought all new facilities to this city,” Streetsboro Superintendent Michael Daubshlag told the gathered crowd. “It’s amazing. I can’t wait for all of you to walk through these doors to this facility.”

The new high school is one of several large building improvements funded by a $38.4 million bond issue approved by voters in November 2013. The bond issue and $24.4 million in state facility funding are meant to support the construction of the new high school. Daubshlag told the district through the planning and construction of the new building.

“Mike’s been a great superintendent throughout all of this,” he said. “He’s put in a lot of work, a lot of time, and we’re excited to have you through the building. It’s a great day.”

Few signs Trump seeks unified nation

Recaps triumph during victory tour

By JONATHAN LEMIRE

Associated Press

PALM BEACH, Fla. — President-elect Donald Trump on Saturday was wrapping up his presidential victory tour, showing few signs of turning the page from his history-camp-aging to focus on uniting a divided nation a month be-two his inauguration.

At each stop, the Republican has gleefully recapped his Election Night triumph, regaled some old political foes while starting some new conversation and doing little to open the hair-split, chants of “Lock Trump” that标志ed his 2016 presidential run.

Trump planned the tour's finale at the same football stadium in Mobile, Ala., that hosted the biggest rally of his ca-

By ANDREW BUGEL

Staff Writer

May 4, 1970 will be forever remembered as the day one young man was killed at Ohio State University. A platoon of U.S. Marines escorted the hearse carrying Glenn to the campus, where the remains of the former Ohio State University student died Dec. 8. More than 2,000 dignitaries, family members, friends and stations and additions to the school, which is now Streetsboro Elementary School, and will house pre-kindergarten through third-grade students beginning Jan. 3, and heavy renovations and additions to the Community, principle with FMD Archi-

Board of Education Pres-sident John Kelly thanked Daubshlag for helping the district through the planning and construction of the

were meant to salute supporters who helped him to the presidency. But these appearances also have been his primary form of communication since the Nov. 3 election.

Trump also enacted the traditional news confer-

cence within days of winning.

Few signs Trump seeks

unified nation

Recaps triumph during victory tour

By JONATHAN LEMIRE

Associated Press

PALM BEACH, Fla. — President-elect Donald Trump on Saturday was wrapping up his presidential victory tour, showing few signs of turning the page from his history-campaign to focus on uniting a divided nation a month be-

two his inauguration.

At each stop, the Republican has gleefully re-

capped his Election Night triumph, regaled some

old political foes while starting some new conversation and doing little to open the hair-split, chants of “Lock Trump” that marked his 2016 presidential run.

Trump planned the tour's finale at the same football stadium in Mobile, Ala., that hosted the biggest rally of his ca-

By ANDREW BUGEL

Staff Writer

May 4, 1970 will be forever remembered as the day one young man was killed at Ohio State University. A platoon of U.S. Marines escorted the hearse carrying Glenn to the campus, where the remains of the former Ohio State University student died Dec. 8. More than 2,000 dignitaries, family members, friends and stations and additions to the

school, which is now Streetsboro Elementary School, and will house pre-

kindergarten through third-

grade students beginning Jan. 3, and heavy renova-

tions and additions to the

Community, principle with FMD Archi-

Board of Education Pres-

sident John Kelly thanked Daubshlag for helping the
district through the planning and construction of the

were meant to salute sup-

porters who helped him to

the presidency. But these

appearances also have been

his primary form of communication since the Nov. 3

election.

Trump also enacted the

traditional news confer-

cence within days of winning.

Few signs Trump seeks

unified nation

Recaps triumph during victory tour

By JONATHAN LEMIRE

Associated Press

PALM BEACH, Fla. — President-elect Donald Trump on Saturday was wrapping up his presidential victory tour, showing few signs of turning the page from his history-campaign to focus on uniting a divided nation a month be-

two his inauguration.

At each stop, the Republican has gleefully re-

capped his Election Night triumph, regaled some

old political foes while starting some new conversation and doing little to open the hair-split, chants of “Lock Trump” that marked his 2016 presidential run.

Trump planned the tour's finale at the same football stadium in Mobile, Ala., that hosted the biggest rally of his ca-

By ANDREW BUGEL

Staff Writer

May 4, 1970 will be forever remembered as the day one young man was killed at Ohio State University. A platoon of U.S. Marines escorted the hearse carrying Glenn to the campus, where the remains of the former Ohio State University student died Dec. 8. More than 2,000 dignitaries, family members, friends and stations and additions to the

school, which is now Streetsboro Elementary School, and will house pre-

kindergarten through third-

grade students beginning Jan. 3, and heavy renova-

tions and additions to the

Community, principle with FMD Archi-

Board of Education Pres-

sident John Kelly thanked Daubshlag for helping the
district through the planning and construction of the

were meant to salute sup-

porters who helped him to

the presidency. But these

appearances also have been

his primary form of communication since the Nov. 3

election.

Trump also enacted the

traditional news confer-

cence within days of winning.

Few signs Trump seeks

unified nation

Recaps triumph during victory tour

By JONATHAN LEMIRE

Associated Press

PALM BEACH, Fla. — President-elect Donald Trump on Saturday was wrapping up his presidential victory tour, showing few signs of turning the page from his history-campaign to focus on uniting a divided nation a month be-

two his inauguration.

At each stop, the Republican has gleefully re-

capped his Election Night triumph, regaled some

old political foes while starting some new conversation and doing little to open the hair-split, chants of “Lock Trump” that marked his 2016 presidential run.

Trump planned the tour's finale at the same football stadium in Mobile, Ala., that hosted the biggest rally of his ca-