ARTISTS IN THE CLASSROOM & CREATIVE SPARK

Managed by ArtStarts in Schools

ArtStarts in Schools offers Artists in the Classroom (AIC) grants to help schools bring professional artists into their classrooms. AIC grants support projects that demonstrate artistic excellence, strong curricular connections, high levels of student engagement and an active partnership between an educator and a professional artist. For 2018-19 the AIC program is funded by BC Arts Council.

How to apply: For AIC application forms and deadline dates visit artstarts.com/aic.

ARTSTARTS CREATIVE SPARK

The Creative Spark grant is designed to support artists across all disciplines living and working in the Basin, who have an interest in working with young people in an arts-based capacity, allowing artists to engage young people in schools and communities in arts-based projects. If you relate to any of the statements below, then this grant is designed for you:

- I'm an emerging artist looking to explore career opportunities
- I'm an established artist interested in working with young people and need support to start
- I have a project idea but don't have the funds to cover the required materials and supplies
- I am interested in applying for an Artists in the Classroom (AIC) grant in the future and need to build some experience

How to apply: For Creative Spark application forms and deadline dates visit artstarts.com/creativesparkcolumbiabasin. Maximum request is $1,000.

For more information on both grants contact Emily Beam at emily@artstarts.com and 1-855-292-7826 ext. 110.

COLUMBIA BASIN TRUST

Columbia Basin Trust supports the ideas and efforts of the people in the Columbia Basin.

We take our lead from the residents and communities. Whatever the situation calls for, we adapt our role: from providing resources, bringing people together, to leading an entire initiative. The Trust is here to offer experience and support to all Basin residents.

While our range of services, programs, initiatives and financial investments is extensive, our purpose is straightforward: we exist and act for the social, economic and environmental well-being of the Basin – now and for generations to come.

Learn more about us at ourtrust.org.

Funding from the Columbia Basin Trust's partnership with CKCA's Arts and Culture programs is for all art disciplines and includes project grants to individuals as well as to arts and culture organizations in the Columbia Basin Trust region.

COLUMBIA KOOTENAY CULTURAL ALLIANCE

The Columbia Kootenay Cultural Alliance (CKCA) administers and manages a suite of arts and culture granting programs on behalf of Columbia Basin Trust.

Funding from the Trust's arts and culture programs is for all arts disciplines and includes grants to individuals as well as to arts and culture organizations in the Columbia Basin Trust region.

Applications are adjudicated once a year by local arts councils and the CKCA Steering Committee. The CKCA has a steering committee of 12 members from around the Columbia Basin, elected for two year terms.

Applicants interested in applying for arts and culture grants through CKCA are responsible for reading the CKCA Funding Policies and Guidelines before submitting an application. Applications must be complete and received by the deadline date; incomplete or late applications will not be accepted.

To facilitate fairness and equitable access, hand delivered applications will not be accepted at the CKCA office. Results will be mailed after May 31, 2018.

Information, funding policies and application forms are available online at basinculture.com.

Working with community arts councils, individual artists, performers, heritage workers and cultural organizations, the overall goal of the CKCA is to build long-term sustainability for artists and to strengthen and support arts, cultural and heritage organizations.
