Sponsorship Benefits

We’re special – here’s why!

Our sponsorships deliver benefits that are quite different than commercial media:

- Vegas PBS programs have much less “message clutter” than on other broadcast or cable programming. Only 2:15 of every hour is spent on messaging – compared with up to 20 minutes per hour on commercial TV! It’s one reason why viewers can easily recall our sponsor messages.

- Programs air without commercial interruption, which keeps viewers engaged. Since sponsor messages air only at the beginning and end of programs, viewers are less likely to change channels and more likely to see your message.

- We offer highly targeted marketing opportunities through our unique and diverse programming lineup.

- Sponsorship prices are reasonable, paperwork is minimal and production fees are usually included at no extra cost.

- Your competitors won’t be next to you in a program, since our sponsors always receive category exclusivity – further enhancing the effectiveness of your message.

- PBS ranks No. 1 in public trust among nationally known institutions, adding substantial credibility to your message.

- Most viewers feel that PBS sponsors are committed to quality and excellence, and more than half of viewers see our sponsors as industry leaders.

- Sponsorships build community goodwill, since supporters of Vegas PBS programming are seen as providing an important service to the community. Small wonder that, all other things being equal, two out of three respondents would choose to buy from a company that supports PBS. It’s another benefit of the “Halo Effect.”
Vegas PBS television sponsors benefit from what is known as the PBS “Halo Effect” — an impression of excellence and civic responsibility connected with our high-quality programming.

Here are reasons why the PBS Halo Effect can dramatically improve perceptions of your brand:

- PBS viewers are nearly 3X more likely to buy a product or service from PBS sponsors than from advertisers on cable or broadcast.

- Viewers are more than 3X more likely to feel PBS sponsors are more committed to quality and excellence than other broadcast advertisers.

- Viewers pay attention to PBS sponsor messages 3X more than ads on broadcast or cable.

- 81% of viewers feel PBS is selective about the businesses and products allowed to sponsor our programming.

- 68% of viewers feel sponsors create compelling advertising that is better than advertisements on other networks.

Viewers believe PBS sponsors have a greater commitment to quality and excellence than broadcast and cable television.

Sponsorship Guidelines

As a non-commercial broadcaster, Vegas PBS must adhere to Federal Communications Commission (FCC) standards for sponsor and underwriter recognition. While we can recognize your business in a variety of ways, we cannot “promote” it. This sometimes requires us to modify the spots you might air on commercial television.

Spot length
The most popular sponsorship announcements on Vegas PBS are 15 or 30 seconds in length.

Spot messaging
Underwriting spots usually begin with your company or organization's name or logo onscreen. Company mascots, identifiable symbols and animated logos are invited, and you also may use a recognized spokesperson's voice and instrumental music as background.

Our announcer will introduce Vegas PBS underwriting spots by saying, “Support for Vegas PBS is made possible by...” or will conclude it by saying “…a proud supporter of Vegas PBS.”

You can repeat your company's slogan or tagline, as long as it complies with FCC standards. You can display products in or out of their packaging, and you can feature consumers or employees instead of products. Your on-screen visuals can include a phone number or website address.

Announcements MAY do the following:
- Describe a business
- Identify products or services
- Express a corporate philosophy
- Include a corporate logo, business location, website or toll-free number
- Express support of Vegas PBS and its programming.

Announcements MAY NOT do the following:
- Issue a “call to action”
- Provide price or value information
- Provide endorsements or inducements
- Use qualitative or comparative language

Our corporate partnerships team works closely with sponsors to develop new spots and scripts or to modify existing media spots to meet our requirements. Most messages can be easily tailored to comply with our guidelines. There is no charge to the sponsor for these services. A sample corporate support sponsorship announcement can easily be made available upon request.

Known only as “KLVX-TV Channel 10” at its inception, Vegas PBS is located in the world-renowned entertainment destination of Las Vegas, Nevada. The Federal Communications Commission license to operate Channel 10 in the community interest as a noncommercial, educational television station was granted to the Clark County School District in 1966. Individual CCSD trustees have since served as the FCC approved licensees of Vegas PBS, setting broad programming policy and approving its annual budget.

In its first 33 years, all KLVX operating costs were assumed by the school district. The percentage of such funding gradually decreased over the years as community support grew, until 1999, when CCSD ended its financial support for capital and operations expenses related to public television.

Today, Vegas PBS offers a diverse set of programs and resources and receives reimbursements from CCSD only for educational media services provided directly to classrooms, used by teachers, or that communicate with the public.

Underwriting and sponsorships enable Vegas PBS to serve the educational, information and artistic needs of our community.

A sample of an on-air sponsorship announcement can easily be made available upon request.
