The Life Triumphant

GIVE GIVE GIVE!!!

“The Life Triumphant is that which places what a man gives to the world in creative expression far ahead of that which he takes from it of the creation of others.” ~ Walter Russell from The Man Who Tapped the Secrets of the Universe

Ever heard of Walter Russell? Fascinating dood. A multi-faceted 20th century genius who beautifully describes the Source of his mojo in this great little book by Glenn Clark.

Don't you think it's a little weird that our culture seems to celebrate “The Cubicle Man” more than “The Renaissance Man”?! Me, too. And, if you're into connecting to God/ Universal Intelligence/whatever-you-want-to-call-it to express your inner Renaissance Soul in this precious little life of ours, me thinks you'll dig the book. It's a tiny 61 pages but remarkably packed with inspiration and wisdom.

I trust you'll enjoy Walter Russell's perspective on genius as much as I do and I vote we dive straight into the Big Ideas! :)

■ Consummate Genius Is Within You!

“I believe that every man has consummate genius within him. Some appear to have it more than others only because they are aware of it more than others are, and the awareness or unawareness of it is what makes each one of them into masters or holds them down to mediocrity. I believe that mediocrity is self-inflicted and that genius is self-bestowed.”

Wow.

“Mediocrity is self-inflicted. Genius is self-bestowed.”

So, uh... Which one are you choosing? :)

■ Three Qualities of the Genius

“Every successful man or great genius has three particular qualities in common. The most conspicuous of these is that they all produce a prodigious amount of work. The second is that they never know fatigue, and the third is that their minds grow more brilliant as they grow older, instead of less brilliant. Great men's lives begin at forty, where the mediocre man's life ends. The genius remains an ever-flowing fountain of creative achievement until the very last breath he draws.”
