TRAINING

You do not have to be a prevention expert to teach Project ALERT. The training program is carefully designed to provide educators with a comprehensive understanding of the program and confidence in their ability to implement it in the classroom.

Project ALERT can be delivered by SAP advisors, science, health and PE teachers core teachers, counselors, nurses, community liaisons and school resource officers.

Training Completion Bonus!

To encourage participation, we also offer the following bonus materials to those who complete training:

- FREE periodic print and video updates
- FREE subscription to The ALERT Educator, a teacher support newsletter
- Certificate of "training completion" to verify contact hours

Online Training is included in the Project ALERT package. It requires access to a computer and an internet connection. This training offers an interactive, virtual classroom that allows educators to train at their own pace and work within their own schedules.

Each lesson must be completed sequentially before advancing to the next. The first lesson takes the longest to complete, about 45 minutes. All other lessons take an average of 20-30 minutes to complete.

An Ecode is an ID number that enables you to share training, free of charge, with colleagues, program partners or rotating staff by allowing them to create their own account and gain direct access to online training.

Educators who train at no charge, by sharing materials and an Ecode, will also receive a certificate of training completion and newsletters.

Workshop Training is available, at no extra charge, with the purchase of 25 Project ALERT curriculum and training packages. A one-day, on-site training delivered by an experienced trainer can be scheduled for large districts or a group of smaller districts working together.

Project ALERT trainers work closely with teachers to help them understand the overall curriculum and underlying teaching strategies.

Every teacher who attends a workshop will also have unlimited access to the online training.

"Project ALERT training was concise and full of good hints. It was an excellent overview and a great introduction to the program. I liked the fact that we could work at our pace.
