Giving Opportunities: You may donate to any of our programs as a gift “in honor of” or “in memory of” of someone. Simply check the appropriate box and provide the name of the individual you wish to recognize on the form.

In addition, you may make your donation online at www.americananthro.org/donate. Once you have selected the program you wish to support, you will be taken to a webpage to add your donation amount and there will be a dropdown box to select for recognition programs.

- Contribute to the AAA Internship Program Endowment Fund: You can make a tax-deductible donation to a special endowment fund that supports only the AAA Internship Program. We need your assistance to reach our $200,000 goal to secure the future of this vital program.

This program provides anthropology students with the opportunity to work with the AAA staff and other agencies in the DC area on projects aligned with their areas of interest within anthropology. The internship program is based within the AAA offices and includes an outreach component with a participating governmental office, local university, or other allied organization, as well as housing and a stipend for expenses.

You can also donate to one of AAA’s other programs, which include:

- Public Education Outreach: Building upon the success of “RACE: Are we So Different?”, we are expanding our outreach to include public education programs and activities about migration, displacement, and human population movements to help people better understand their own migration history and those of others. Contributions to our “World on the Move: 100,000 Years of Human Migration” project will be used to support planning and development of a traveling museum exhibition, as well as public programming and events such as book readings, town halls, and an ethnographic film festival.
- AAA Endowment Fund: Our endowment fund is the key to our future. Your gift ensures that the AAA will be able to advance the discipline of anthropology by broadening our programs and services.
- Palestine-Israel Fellowship Fund for Travel: This fellowship award program is intended to support the travel of Palestinian and Israeli scholars and students to AAA conferences, and to support visiting scholars in anthropology to serve as teachers, mentors, and/or research collaborators with colleagues at universities and research centers in Israel and Palestine.
- AAA Unrestricted Fund: Please use my gift wherever most needed.
