1. Membership currently is 170.
2. There is no publication budget. There is $1,000 in the Section budget.
3. Invited Roundtable for Indigenous Anthropologists featuring Jason Younker (Coquill) (RIT), Charles Gourd (Cherokee), Joe Medicine Crow (Crow). All are professional anthropologists and all are engaged in applied projects in their own communities or in inter-tribal contexts. All use their anthropological training to inform their work. This was co-sponsored with the Society for Humanistic Anthropology.
   The Ends of Self Reflection: Indigenous Sovereign Spaces in Public Places
   Indigenous Identities on the Border  Both of these panels were sponsored by AIA.
4. There was no spring meeting. We kept in contact by email.
5. Ed Jolie met with numerous students at the AAA meetings and Lambert, Younker and Archambault are in constant contact with students due to their responsibilities as faculty and program head.
6. All members of the AIA Board meet individually with a wide variety of groups. Archambault met with the current Americans for Indian Opportunity Ambassadors group, outstanding young leaders in Indian Country.
7. At the Business Meeting AIA gave a Lifetime Achievement Award to Joseph Medicine Crow, Dagak Bako or High Bird, the oldest Indian anthropologist in the country (97 years). With a MA from USC he has spent his life contributing to his people and to other tribes, being a role model for younger generations, and preserving the history and culture of the Crow nation. His son and daughter-in-law accompanied him from Montana and Clayton Old Elk, fellow tribal member, sang an honoring song for him. AIA also gave a gift to Charles Gourd for his work in applied projects in Indian country.
8. We have a list serve which I maintain, a website which has just finished being designed by the AAA, and no newsletter.
Future Plans
1. We are always looking out to increase membership, especially among indigenous anthropologists of any age or education.
2. Not at this time.
3. We will be starting an annual $1000 fellowship for an indigenous student of anthropology enrolled in a program.
4. Not at this time.
