Case 1: FDG-PET/CT scan showing extensive bilateral hilar and mediastinal nodal hypermetabolism in a patient with sarcoidosis.

Case 2: FDG-PET/CT scan showing intense, segmental hypermetabolism in the distal small bowel of a patient with lymphoma. Endoscopy and biopsy showed inflammation and ulceration, consistent with terminal ileitis due to infection.

About “Views You Can Use”
Courtesy of Eric M. Rohren, MD, PhD, MD Anderson Cancer Center.