Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBT) and Disability Resources

The LGBT community faces many challenges due to lack of social, legal, and community support. These challenges may be compounded when disabilities and aging issues are introduced. Life care planning becomes very important to this community as same-sex partners may not have any rights to financial, medical, or end-of-life decision making for their loved one without wills, advance directives, etc. The LGBT community may face a hard time finding health care practitioners who are open to working with them. Recent studies have found that LGBT older adults experience higher rates of disability as compared to their heterosexual peers. The entries below offer some resources to help.

Morgan. United Gay Network, 2012. DVD
The inspiring story of Morgan Oliver, a bicyclist determined to remain unchanged after an accident leaves him paralyzed. Morgan takes a chance on love when he meets Dean Kagen on a basketball court. Dean helps Morgan train for the same race in which his accident occurred, but Dean leaves when he sees that Morgan will risk everything to win. Morgan is left to decide whether love or winning is more important to him.
