Surfer’s Myelopathy or Surfer’s Paralysis

Surfer’s myelopathy or surfer’s paralysis is a spinal cord injury that affects first-time surfers. It is thought to be caused by turning to look over one’s shoulder and thus affecting the blood flow to the lower half of the body. It is not from a trauma. Some people recover and others remain paraplegic.

Website

http://www.smawareness.org/
Surfer’s Myelopathy Foundation
PO Box 94302
Pasadena, CA 91109
925-395-7169
Email: info@smawareness.org
The mission of Surfer’s Myelopathy Foundation is to increase the awareness of surfer’s myelopathy in order to provide support and to promote injury prevention, research, and treatment.

Articles and Blog Posts

http://www.spinejournal.com/pt/re/spine/abstract.00007632-200408150-00025.htm?sessionid=L9fdRtkfpKLsP2c5dqTQWTLQnWPyymM4mGFT2jVTmzcTMc301K3G!-93356440!181195629!8091!-1
Thompson, Todd P. MD; Pearce, James MD; Chang, Gonzolo; Madamba, Joseph. “Surfer’s Myelopathy”. Spine. August 2004. Vol. 29, Issue 16, pp E353-6. (click on Abstract to read the abstract)

http://westseattleblog.com/blog/?p=6695 http://joeguintu.blogspot.com/

Blog: Surfer’s Myelopathy Recovery Update

The information contained in this message is presented for the purpose of educating and informing you about paralysis and its effects. Nothing contained in this message should be construed nor is intended to be used for medical diagnosis or treatment. It should not be used in place of the advice of your physician or other qualified health care provider. Should you have any health care related questions, please call or see your physician or other qualified health care provider promptly. Always consult with your physician or other qualified health care provider before embarking on a new treatment, diet or fitness program. You should never disregard medical advice or delay in seeking it because of something you have read in this message.

This project was supported, in part by grant number 90PR3002, from the U.S. Administration for Community Living, Department of Health and Human Services, Washington, D.C. 20201. Grantees undertaking projects under government sponsorships are encouraged to express freely their findings and conclusions. Points of view or opinions do not, therefore, necessarily represent official Administration for Community Living policy.