"Spiritual maturity is not reached by the passing of the years, but by obedience to the will of God." -- Oswald Chambers

There is a sense in which maturity is expected of people when they are not capable of achieving that status yet. These people are striving to grow, but simply are not ready to make a huge step towards leadership. In this particular case, it is vital that the church provide multiple opportunities for that person to grow, study, learn, and implement the things they are learning into a life that strives to please God rather than men.

Additionally, there are people who ought to be mature and are not. These people have been in positions to grow, study, learn, and do, but in many cases they are not doing those things. Reasons for that? Perhaps laziness, a lack of confidence, a refusing to grow up, or even open rebellion to the things they know. Whatever the case might be, there does come a time when each person who claims to follow God must grow up and seize the opportunities presented before them.

This morning, I am simply asking us all to take a measure of our own maturity and see if there is room for improvement. If so, then may we have the courage of Jonathan (more on him this evening) to pursue a relationship with God over everything else.
