

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
April 1, 2013

Contact: Christina Johnson
850.391.5040
Christina@On3PR.com

FOX Affiliate Television Show 'Live with Lori' Tapes This Week in Tallahassee
-Political Food for Thought Program Interviews Legislative Leaders, Political Party Chairs-

(Tallahassee, FL) – FOX affiliate television show 'Live with Lori, Political Food for Thought' concludes its second season of taping in Tallahassee, Florida the week of April 1, 2013. Political influencers who are scheduled to tape this week with host Lori Halbert include Democrat Leader Pro Tempore Senator Maria Sachs (D- Boca Raton), State Representative Darryl Rouson (D- St. Petersburg), Florida Democratic Party Chairwoman Allison Tant Richard and Republican Party of Florida Chairman Lenny Curry. Each episode will be taped at the Keiser University Center for Culinary Arts.

The weekly half hour show, which last year debuted in more than 6 million homes across Florida on the popular Sun Sports Network, a FOX Sports affiliate, was picked up for a second 13-episode season. Host Lori Halbert of Indialantic created the Florida-based program to serve as a cross between a political news show and a traditional cooking show, providing viewers an insider's look at their elected lawmakers in a casual setting.

"'Live with Lori' introduces elected officials and opinion leaders from both parties to millions of viewers in a unique format," said host Lori Halbert. "It is the only show in Florida that features political guests cooking up some great dishes while dishing about issues at the local, state and federal level."

The show welcomes its newest sponsor, the Florida Realtors, who join current sponsors Smith & Associates Attorneys and Counselors at Law, Keiser University, Indialantic Seafood Company, Stoneprints Jewelry, Yellow Dog Café, and the Residence Inn Tallahassee.

'Live with Lori, Political Food for Thought' airs Thursday mornings at 7:00 a.m. EST. Season 2 guests also include Florida Chief Financial Officer Jeff Atwater, Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services Commissioner Adam Putnam, Senate President Don Gaetz, and others. State Representative Matt Hudson's (R-Naples) episode will debut Thursday, April 4th. Check local cable or satellite guide, or go to www.LivewithLori.com for Sun Sports Network channel listings.

About 'Live with Lori, Political Food for Thought'

Host Lori Halbert, herself a former Indianalantic town council member whose first venture into state politics was a bid for Florida House in 2010, has brilliantly mixed her two passions in what viewers and lawmakers are calling "a surprising, yet savory way." Halbert's goal is to make public policy a little more palatable to Floridians across the state and across partisan lines.

Season 1 highlighted over a dozen political influencers and policy makers at the state and federal level. Season 2 promises more of the same with cabinet and legislative leaders discussing issues impacting Floridians. To view Season 1 episodes in their entirety, and for Season 2 current programming, please go to www.LivewithLori.com. Like us on Facebook at Live with Lori, and follow us on Twitter @LivewithLoriTV.

Sun Sports is a FOX Television affiliate with a 6.6 million viewer cable and satellite TV audience throughout Florida. See your local cable or satellite guide for more information about the Sun Sports Network, or go to www.LivewithLori.com for channel listings.

Editor's Note:

To request a photo or interview with 'Live with Lori' host Lori Halbert, please contact Christina Johnson via email at Christina@On3PR.com or phone at 850.391.5040.