

Chickasha Junior Leadership Class VII of 2014 Convenes

On Wednesday night, December 11, 2013, twenty Chickasha Middle School students were inducted into the Junior Leadership Chickasha Class of 2014. This class is sponsored by the Chickasha Chamber of Commerce and the Chickasha Public Schools.

A Kick-Off Reception was held for all of the candidates and their parents. Dan Turner, Principal of CMS welcomed the guests. Robyn Morse, Assistant Superintendent, offered the students a challenge to become the best leaders that they could be and return to the Chickasha community to work and become the future leaders of our city.

The CMS Honor's Choir, directed by James Briscoe, presented two songs for the program. Sharon Wilson, Counselor of CMS recognized each candidate by reading an excerpt from each of their recommendations. Those eighth grade students receiving certificates were:

Niki Autrey, Zoe Blue, Kristina Bradford, Ethan Christian, DeKyra Foster, Cody Freeman, Cassie Hamilton, Ashon Haslacker, Jacob Kennedy, Braden Layman, Su Xhian Lim, Cheyenne Mata, Ashlyn Morris, Erin Powell, Rhiannon Quillin, Madeline Roberson, Ashlin Tryczak, Ian Turpin, Brandon Williams, Joey Willoughby. All of these students met certain criteria and were nominated by school staff and members of the community.

They will spend the next five months touring governmental entities, local businesses, and USAO. The students will be working on two class volunteer projects with Life Line Hospice of Chickasha and Ross Home Health Care. They will also be visiting board meetings of various organizations throughout the community. The Chamber of Commerce and Chickasha Public Schools are proud of these students for their desire to grow into great leaders for our future.
