

WJRC Director's Report for October

WJRC has finally launched our new online registration. We were a week late, but we wanted to make sure everything was perfect before we provided it to our patrons. People inside and outside the community can go to our new website and register for programs from the comfort of their home, work, etc...

We are extremely happy with our new painter. It will save us time in painting, which will allow us to focus on other projects.

Our fall sports leagues are half-way through their seasons. Everything is going great and we have received many positive comments about our complex. Our winter sports registrations are open for registration and the deadline is November 2nd.

The group AAYSC (All American You Sport Commission) recently held a competitive youth baseball tournament at our complex during Wellsville Days. They were extremely satisfied with our complex and mentioned they heard good comments from other teams who said they would be back out here for another tournament. We were glad to hear this! All of our hard work to get the complex looking nice is paying off. They are interested in hosting two more dates with us in October, along with several next spring!

WJRC will also now be partnering with USD289's Christmas Angel Project. We will be a location where gently used toys and clothes can be dropped off, in effort to assist in the holiday giving to less fortunate families within the communities. We have also set up a "program" where families who aren't able to come by during our regular office hours and still want to donate, can donate a small amount of money to the Christmas Angel Project. The money will then be given (100% in full) to the Coordinators with the Christmas Angel Project. WJRC is happy to help out with the community any way we can!
