Campbell's Hoot & Holler

This week has been a tough one for families, students, and staff. Thank you to all for the warm well-wishes and extra thoughts and prayers. We lost two bright stars from our Lifeskills class and I know our first and third graders will miss their classmates dearly. Please continue to pray for the Overlees and the Twietmeyers as they continue to grieve the loss of their children. Cale's family decided to donate his organs, and so I wanted to share with you that Cale's heart went to a 3-yr old boy, his lungs to a 7-yr old boy, his liver to a 5-yr old girl, his kidneys to two different children, and his corneas to an organ bank. What a great gift from Cale. We have not heard details on services as of yet for Cale, but we will communicate through email when we know more information.

Our middle school schedule is changing a bit for next year. As you know, this year we have two Language Arts teachers leaving. We are looking to hire just one for our 6-8 grade Language Arts class and have decided to change the second position to a STEAM teacher, focusing on science, technology, engineering, art and math through a project-based learning style. Mrs. Jones has decided to switch roles to become our new STEAM teacher, which now opens up our science position. We are excited about our new changes and implementing new, hands-on curriculum into the middle school day.

State Assessments are underway and so far (knock on wood) have been running very smoothly. Next week third grade and middle school will test in math and language arts. Please be sure to have your children eat breakfast and get plenty of sleep the night before the test.

Sincerely,
Jenny Campbell, Principal

Lost and Found is Overflowing!

We have no hangers left! With cold weather still lingering around, please help us reduce our coat count! We donate the remaining lost & found items at the end of the year.
