

Connect in real-time with the people in your company

What is the problem?

Between the inbox clutter, disorganized “treemails” and slow offline and online communications we have been using for the last 15 years, it’s a wonder we get anything done. Why is it we can be updated real time in our personal lives using applications like Facebook and Twitter, but rely on email for our business collaboration tool? When will business collaboration software finally catch up?

How do we solve it?

MangoTalk allows you to extend social capabilities in a smart way across every level of your company, making a wide, deep and practical impact on how communication happens in the Enterprise 2.0 and beyond. With MangoTalk, you will always have the latest information from the people and groups you care most about, all in a single place.

Business Collaboration

Realtime Updates + Knowledge Sharing

Update your colleagues with what you are working on, ask questions and share insights to keep everyone on the same page.

Private + Public Group Collaboration

Form new teams on the fly to keep up with today’s business needs. Create private groups as needed or keep the group open. You set the privacy.

Secure IM + Real Time Presence

Group and 1-to-1 instant messaging with real-time presence is fully integrated with one click access from any threaded feed.

Access Anywhere + Anytime

Continue conversations wherever you are - on your desktop at home, in the office, or on your mobile when you are on the go. Out to lunch is not out of touch.

One Click Voice Conferencing

Voice conferencing with a single click moves your conversation to a real voice conversation. (transcribe & archive available soon)

Full Integration + Data Administration

Integrate MangoTalk with your own workflow tools using the open APIs and an on-premise deployment.
