

Foot Reflexology and Detoxification

This 20-hour course offers effective techniques for activating lymphatic drainage and detoxification utilizing reflexive pressure to the feet. Students will learn traditional Reflexology techniques to enhance organ and gland function and support the body's exit strategy for metabolic wastes and foreign pathogens. Foot reflexology involves distal stimulation on the feet to release metabolic wastes in the tissues that impede the flow of blood, lymph and chi to the vital organs, glands and lymph nodes. Students will learn to interface with the body's electromagnetic energy grid through the ten zones or bipolar currents and affect change anywhere in the body with sustained contact on the feet.

Students will also learn how to enhance the effectiveness of their detox treatments with adjunctive essential oils and herbal supplementation. The course will address the influence of environmental toxins on the physiology and how to support the body's capacity to flush chemicals, pesticides, heavy metals and metabolic wastes to resolve a variety of detox issues such as headaches, colds, flu, immune system deficiency, pain and dysfunction.

WHAT STUDENTS AND CLIENTS ARE SAYING ABOUT REFLEXOLOGY...

"The number one thing I do for myself is Reflexology. I knew the benefits immediately when I came into the clinic and had a Reflexology clinic 18 months ago. I downloaded the process and feel of it. I can do this on myself every day. Why not? I can have a dramatic change of energy. Adrenals are the number one issue for most folks, so that is what I worked on. High energy is the name of the game. My personal practice of bodywork has come from getting it, integrating the feeling of it and then turning around and giving it. A year after my first Reflexology session, I started walking barefoot. For years I had to wear shoes for my stability and had a lot of sensitivity. After Reflexology my feet shifted. I can now walk on stones and feel very strong." Dan Debroux, CEO, Business Coach and Speaker

"I work for the Sherriff's department 12 hour shifts on my feet in boots on concrete all day. I got your email and thought what a great idea! I was so impressed with how I felt after the first session I decided to have a go for a second session. Tomorrow I'll be back for Deep Tissue and Saturday back for Swedish." Chuck Van de Walker, SBBTI clinic client commenting on sessions with Toni Osuna, Tonya Roberts and James Margeson

"I had a car accident two years ago. I was too weak from the accident to make it for a massage session. Nothing I had been trying medically was helping. In the past I had received many massages at the Institute that had helped me so I finally forced myself to come and received a Swedish. Following my session, the therapist recommended that I go to the intro to Reflexology. I loved it and decided to take the whole course. Day one of class I came in with a cane for balance and walked out with no cane. I was able to put away chairs and help with the cleanup. I felt perfectly balanced. It was amazing! Normally at this time of day I am wiped out because of fibromyalgia but my energy felt great. Day two of class I didn't need to sleep. I had lots of energy. (I normally sleep a lot during the daytime.) I was able to stand and do the golf ball exercise and now I am able to sit cross legged on the floor. I can't remember the last time I have been able to that!" Day three of class I was able to do the opening exercise without my cane. I picked up the massage table and chair to set up my treatment space by myself. I wasn't able to do any of those activities before. I've never felt grounded like this in my whole life. Day four of class I left the cane in the car. I went up and down the stairs like a normal person. I haven't done that since 2006. I used to have to go one foot at a time and pull myself up. I feel a heat through my body when healing is happening and I feel great. However I am sad about the class ending as I want it to last forever. I will do these techniques with my son because he has asthma and I tell him this has made such a difference in me that it could make a difference in you too." Amy Lowe, Reflexology student

"Before receiving Reflexology my back was really bothering me. On a scale of 1-10 it was about a five. During my sessions I had a lot of strong sensations, I got really cold, when my kidney points were worked on - my teeth were chattering. Now I feel really great and have no pain in my back." Tony Torrez, 550 graduate, and Iraq Veteran

"Learning Reflexology validated beliefs that I hold about the connection between the energy zones and the feet. It gave me a much stronger awareness of my body mechanics and helped me shift my stress response. Before I started the course my hands were exposed to toxic chemicals that made my skin severely blistered, raw and swollen. The stress of that shifted tremendously during the course. It was a huge benefit to refocus how I dealt with the condition and my body's capacity to heal. My hands are now so much better." Barbara Loveless, Reflexology student

"I wake up with more energy. I'm a lot more clearly minded now. I shake off things that are bothering me and get through my day with gratitude and wellbeing. It's changed me a lot in body, mind and spirit. I'm developing into the person I'm very happy to be." Amanda McColpin, current 250 hr student, Reflexologist in upcoming clinic

"Studying bodywork at SBBTI has given me a skill that I can be truly passionate about. I experienced a comprehensive education and benefited from the wisdom of my instructors in ways that go beyond how to give an effective massage. Of the modalities I have learned, reflexology has proven to be the most powerful and effective I do. I consistently witness my clients benefiting from the work and becoming convinced of the power of reflexology and bodywork in general." Allie Thompson, SBBTI graduate, practicing therapist at the Bacara Resort & Spa, using Reflexology, Deep Tissue, Thai and Swedish Massage

"One of my clients was a Reflexology skeptic. When I suggested she try Reflexology for her arthritis pain, she said "that stuff doesn't work". So I told her the worst that can happen is that she'd get a great one- hour foot massage. I pulled out my emWave biofeedback monitor that I use with all my reflexology sessions and hooked her up and it was so amazing, because she had arthritis and it lit up on all the points that reflexed her painful joints in her body. At the end of the session her pain was gone and she asked me to come back in a week and work on her husband also." Jeff Dutcher 250 hour student, and recent graduate of SBBTI's Reflexology training

"I feel much lighter as result of having my adrenal points worked on my feet and hands. A heavy gucky energy that was present in my body cleared out; my left arm in particular. It feels like I have a new arm." Patrick

"I feel good---like I've been defragged. I really like it. I feel like my energy field has come alive from being dormant. It's as if my energy is scrubbable. I'm really excited to be able to share this healing with the seniors I work with and with all my clients, especially those who don't like to take their clothes off." Kelle Evans

"For my body and my sport, Reflexology IS Sports Massage. When I need help to stay healthy and balanced for training and racing, Reflexology, Craniosacral Therapy and Lymphatic Drainage are what make a difference in my body. What racing cyclists need are immune and digestion support. Cyclists are hunched over for hours at a time, often breathing in pollutants and putting high demands on our bodies. This time around on our next Ride Across America race, I am making sure all my support staff have training in Reflexology and belly work for all the cyclists on our team." Sonia Ross, Level I instructor and Nationally

"Wow, I have been in the bodywork field for 29 years and I have never felt the energy in my body or in a client's body the way I feel it in this class. I am so excited. You know, my ankles get very swollen from poor circulation. After a reflexology session they are normal again. Yesterday, I felt like I had gained 5 pounds- my whole body was swollen. So, I decided to do Reflexology on myself. I saw results immediately. Today, the swelling is gone and I feel lightness in my feet. I feel like I lost 5 pounds!" IRINA MCBRIDE, massage therapist and esthetician at Bacara Resort and Spa, and SBBTI's Reflexology clinic
