The TRUTH

About Recording & Publishing Deal Advances

by Eli Ball, CEO & Founder of Lyric Financial

Congratulations, you've gotten your music career to the point that someone is offering you real money.

Why? Because they believe they are going to make a lot more money off you and your music than Congratulations, you've gotten your music career to the point that someone is offering you real money. Why? Because they believe they are going to make a lot more money off you and your music than they are advancing you. Nothing wrong with that. They are in business to make money and the risks associated with funding an artist, producer or songwriter (even one with an established track record) are significant. Still, it is very important that you understand every nuance of the deal and how it will help you achieve your specific goals. Here are some key things to consider when you're negotiating.

How Much Money Is Actually Guaranteed?

The first question you should ask: "Is the advance amount guaranteed regardless of what happens, or is it based on delivering a certain amount of 'acceptable' music within a specific period of time?" What happens if you get sick, hit by a bus or run into life issues that make you unable to meet your contractual commitment? What happens if the record label doesn't like the album you turn in and deems your product commercially unacceptable (wouldn't be the first time)? What happens if your music publisher declines to give you credit for a cut on a release by an artist that the publisher doesn't deem successful enough? This could prevent you from fulfilling the minimum delivery requirement in your publishing contract, which would then prevent you from getting the next advance due under your contract. Life happens, so protect yourself at the onset.

The True Cost

The second question you should ask is, "What am I giving up for this advance?" Are you being asked to give up creative rights, ownership of your music, a higher royalty rate, how you choose to promote your music or how you want your image managed?

Deals by nature are negotiations, and the more leverage you have, the more you are likely to strike a great deal for yourself. Do not assume that just because you are being offered a big advance that the deal is a smart play. What expenses are being charged against your royalties?

Nor should you assume that if the political or popular winds change at your label or publisher (which can definitely happen) they would not move on to their next priority and leave you with the bill. I can't count the number of albums recorded that record labels "shelved" (i.e. never released). Keep in mind that while your advance may be more money than you have ever had access to, it's often a drop in the bucket for the record label or music publisher.

Recoupables

It's essential to understand that the label or publisher will recoup not only your advance but also all of their expenses (e.g. marketing, promotion, tour support, recording costs, legal fees, etc.) from your royalties, NOT the gross income of your catalogue. In plain English: the label or publisher is providing you with a non-recourse loan to finance your career, and their expenses are to be recouped solely from your future royalties. In exchange, you - the artist and/or writer - are giving them a percentage ownership of your music for nothing. Make sure your value is calculated in and you have approval on key expenses that will later be recouped, so you don't find yourself five years in and never having been paid (like many artists do) because you still haven't reached the "break even" point.

At the end of the day, the advance you have been offered comes with strings attached....mo' money, mo' strings. You absolutely need capital to grow your music career. Just be sure you understand the deal...every detail. Don't allow any "gotchas" to surface that you are not fully aware of. ■

Today's Music City is more diverse musically than it was 10 years ago, and will be even more diverse 10 years from now. Our country music friends have done an amazing job of telling their stories and building their community, and they will continue to do so. But, there is a glaring lack of a gathering point for those of us that don't fit into that community. This includes creators and industry professionals in the city's Pop, Rock, Singer/Songwriter, Soul, Emo, Hip Hop, R&B, Jazz, Orchestral, Electronic, and Christian music scenes. The Other Nashville Society was created to be our gathering point.

SOCIETY

Nashville's only a country music town at first glance. Look deeper, and you'll see the Other Nashville, a musically diverse and business savvy community of creatives, artists, and music pros. There's just one problem: No one knew how to find each other, outside of country's usual professional stomping grounds.

The Other Nashville Society aims to change this. Founded by nationally recognized veterans of publishing (Sony/ATV Nashville's Mark Abramowitz and Katie Fagan of Prescription Songs), songwriting (artist Holley Maher), sync/licensing (Josh Collum of the music licensing and sync company Sorted Noise), and artist manager (Ally Venable of Iconic Entertainment), TONS is a carefully selected professional networking and skill-development organization designed to shine a light on the many other sides and sounds of Music City.

"Genre diversity is really important to Nashville. There are a lot of other musicians and styles that have started here, flourished here; from the likes of Meghan Trainor to the Black Keys," explains Venable. "There are so many amazing talents in Nashville who don't know how to find each other because they weren't making country music."

The talent is there, but not the platform or hub to enable more opportunities. Maher, for example, carved out a successful niche for herself in sync placements and music licensing via trial and error, after looking unsuccessfully for resources outside the country music business to guide her. She longs to support other artists and ease the struggle: "I met a lot of supportive people here, but most folks couldn't point me in the right direction. I went to speaking events, for example, and they were all geared to country writers. I would have loved to know more about sync, where I ended up eventually."

"Because there hasn't been a clear gathering point for the non-country music community, in many ways, everyone kind of just does their own thing. That's why we're so fragmented and siloed," reflects Collum. "We believe everyone benefits when we pull those fragments together."

The creative opportunities Nashville offers are sometimes overlooked by non-country artists hoping to record new tracks or find a producer to work with. "The next step is for artists to make a lot more records here," states Abramowitz. "A lot of people go to the coasts. That's great, but we know the quality of musicians and producers and the studios in town. It's happening more that artists are coming or staying here to work. It's just the beginning."

This promising beginning reflects a broader transformation that's happening in the city. From the cradle of a very certain style and genre, Nashville is becoming a music crucible as more industry heavyweights expand their presence, and tech-driven startups spring out of its music-rich environment.

The Other Nashville Society Wants to be a Hub for Non-Country Music Pros

The TONS launch event (in July, 2017) speaks volumes to this major shift and growing energy: More than 350 artists, songwriters, and reps of major labels, publishers, platforms, and media organizations gathered. "It wasn't the typical get together of music folks, which was the goal," Collum says. "I can't tell you how many times the other co-founders and I had people tell us they made an awesome connection in the room."

The connections continued at a series of events, dubbed "TONS Talks," in the following months. Each TONS Talk addressed major pain points specific to the non-country music community in Nashville. The first in the series, on August 28th, brought together four hit songwriters that most might not realize spend a significant amount of time in Nashville. Jim Jonsin (Beyonce', Usher, Lil Wayne), Brett McLaughlin (Daya, Capital Cities, Selena Gomez), Tommy English (BORNS, K.Flay, 5 Seconds of Summer), and David "DQ" Quinones (Jennifer Lopez, The Pussycat Dolls, Jason Derulo) will come together on a panel, moderated by Katie Fagan (Prescription Songs, TONS co-founder), to discuss their Nashville experience, and ways to build the pop songwriting community in the city.

"The response we've seen so far shows how badly people need a network they can plug into and how our members are really engaging with each other," says Collum. "It's about all the people in the room. Everyone is so hungry for it." ■

Josh Collum is Co-Founder and Partner at Sorted Noise in Nashville. Sorted Noise makes and licenses music for TV, film, advertising, trailers, and other media, and is built around a community of Nashville based artists and composers. Recent work includes TV spots for Nutella, IKEA and DKNY, as well as songs in multiple TV shows such as This Is Us, Mad Men, Grey's Anatomy, Big Bang Theory, Breaking Bad, Pretty Little Liars, and Vampire Diaries. The company's boutique digital label, Sorted Noise Records, has over 70 million streams on Spotify with its releases.

In addition to Sorted Noise, Josh is also a successful singer / songwriter. His band, Secrets in Stereo, has been licensed in film, TV, and advertising over 150 times and his songs have collected over 250,000,000 views on Youtube.

Katie Fagan is Head of Prescription Songs in Nashville, the first office to open from their home base in Los Angeles. After nearly seven years with Dr. Luke and company, Katie has seen the roster grow from twelve to almost 90 songwriters, artists and producers; a handful of which she has personally signed. Among them, Katie has developed breakout songwriters such as FRENSHIP, Soaky Siren, and Shy Girls, and in addition has serviced hit writers such as Sarah Hudson and Cirkut. Last year, FRENSHIP's single "Capsize" (featuring Prescription writer Emily Warren) was one of Spotify's biggest success stories and has over 370 million streams to date, and was recently certified platinum by RIAA. Additionally, Katie has placed numerous songs over the years with artists such as Justin Bieber, Rita Ora, Tinashe, Cashmere Cat and Dua Lipa.

Holley Maher is a songwriter, recording artist, illustrator, and graphic designer based in Nashville, TN. As an independent artist, she made a name for herself in micro-licensing as a top-seller on Music Bed following the release of her first album, and later signed with Nashville licensing company Sorted Noise as one of their flagship artists. Her music has been licensed around the world in film and television, including advertisement campaigns for brands like Ikea, Nutella, Cheerios, Birchbox, and ModCloth. Holley is also the Founder and Creative Director behind Wink Wink Paper Co., a stationery line that creates boutique greeting cards, art prints, and gift wrap. Holley fills the roll of Branding Director for The Other Nashville Society, and also offers unique perspective as the only singer/songwriter among the TONS founders.

Mark Abramowitz is a Senior Manager of A&R/Creative for Sony/ATV Music publishing based in Nashville, TN. Mark recently worked out of Sony/ATV's New York office, but was relocated to the company's Nashville office in March of 2015 to specialize in non-country music. In his new role he has been tasked with signing, developing and working with Sony/ATV Nashville's non-country songwriters as well as supporting Sony/ATV's signings from other destinations who come to Music City for songwriting and recording sessions.

Since his re-location, he has already began working and developing Nashville based talents Apollo LTD, Daphne Willis, and Daniel James, along with recent Nashville transplants singer-songwriter Noah Kahan and pop/R&B trio NAWAS.

Ally Venable is an Artist Manager and head of Creative at Iconic Entertainment Group. Prior to her move into management, she worked at Paradigm Talent Agency for three years. Ally has a Bachelors Degree in Music Business from Lee University in Cleveland, TN. Her passion for music, experience performing in college and working in the industry for 7 years allows her to effectively communicate creativity in a world full of business. Iconic Entertainment's roster includes Kelsea Ballerini, CROUSE, J. Human, & Levi Hummon.

In her work with top, young pop artists, Venable said she's very aware of Nashville's growing pool of non-country musicians and companies. "I think there's a lot of conversation happening in this town already."

Pitch perfect: the trends around pitching to Spotify and Apple Music playlists

In 2017, pitching tracks to the in-house playlisters at Spotify, Apple Music and other music-streaming services is an important cog in labels' marketing campaigns. But it's also a discipline with plenty of mystery around it.

READ THE STORY ON MUSIC:BLY'S WEBSITE:
<http://bit.ly/2i403L5>

From our humble beginnings in the basement of an Ann Arbor, Michigan blues club in 1977, Blind Pig Records has grown into one of the premier blues labels in the world. A virtual who's who of blues and roots artists performed on the Blind Pig stage at one time or another - Otis Rush, Koko Taylor, Commander Cody, Asleep At The Wheel, Roosevelt Sykes, Robert Lockwood, Mighty Joe Young, Johnny Shines, The Fabulous Thunderbirds, Walter Horton, Bonnie Raitt, Eddie Taylor, Jimmy Rogers, and Hound Dog Taylor, to name a few.

Their incredible performances and the enthusiasm of the audiences led to the notion of recording this memorable music and presenting it to fans beyond the confines of this legendary club. From the very beginning, our belief in the creative abilities of the artists and their need to expand the limits of their art form took precedence over a strict adherence to any narrowly defined musical idiom. As a result, our label's natural progression has been to release albums not only in Blues, but also in the fields of Roots Rock, Zydeco, Rhythm & Blues, and Soul Gospel. This philosophy has earned Blind Pig a reputation for excellence not only through releases by some of the all-time greats, but also through recordings of the new generation of artists who are bringing these uniquely American art forms into the 21st century.

With $70M from Alphabet, UnitedMasters replaces record labels

Record labels are obsolete. They haven't kept up as music evolved from selling CDs to streaming songs to promoting concert tickets and merchandise. Labels were meant to help artists generate albums, fame, and money. But now anyone can record themselves and no one "buys" music.

Pollstar Live!

FEB 6 - 8, 2018
LOS ANGELES,
CALIFORNIA /
UNITED STATES

Pollstar Live! has cemented its place as the largest gathering of concert industry professionals in the world. The conference brings thousands of music business execs to Los Angeles for three days of deal making, discussions, education, networking, music, fun and, hopefully, some tanning. Since 1995 this conference has presented opinions and information from industry innovators and leaders like artist manager Shep Gordon, promoter Michael Cohl and CA's Rob Light. Featured speakers have also included bestselling authors who think outside the box. Pollstar Live! is a tremendous networking asset for those who want to meet their current and future business contacts face-to-face. For the fourth year, Pollstar Live! will be preceded by the one-day Production Live! conference, a day of panels and networking for the road-hardened production executives culminating in the Opening Reception for our traditional conference. <http://bit.ly/2y30vTK>

Code Media Conference
FEB 12 - 13, 2018
HUNTINGTON BEACH,
CALIFORNIA / UNITED STATES

There is only one constant in the media world, change. If you think you have figured out the way people are going to make content, pay for it, distribute and consume it, think again, because things move fast. All the time. That is why we produce Code Media each year. It is a chance for the most interesting and powerful people in the media business to convene and share insights about what is working, what is not and what is next. At this immersive, 2 day event, Recode Senior Editor Peter Kafka and Executive Editor Kara Swisher, will feature candid, insight packed interviews from key figures in the media business and the technology world that is disrupting it. Code Media also gives you the chance to get up close and personal with the people who can help you boost your company and your career, via structured breakout sessions and lots of casual networking time. We pitch a big tent at Code Media: If you are interested in making media, getting it in front of people or monetizing it, we have got good news. So are we. <http://bit.ly/2gww10Z>

VENTURA, CALIFORNIA / UNITED STATES

Few things are more inspiring than spending quality time with smart, talented, like-minded people who understand what you do... and are passionate about it, in fact. Do you really know what's going on in the "industry"? (It's changing!) Have you been honestly critiqued by more than your friends, family, and current fans? We learn through failure, through trial and error. You have to be willing to try yourself against your peers so that you can get better at your craft, your art, your job. <http://bit.ly/2wZwaDr>

New Orleans Jazz Festival
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA / UNITED STATES
APR 27 - MAY 5, 2018

The Festival has always blended in a wide mix of internationally renowned guests. Over the years Jazz Fest has received many honors, including being named the Festival of the Year four times by Pollstar magazine. The Wall Street Journal has said that Jazz Fest "showcases a wider, deeper lineup of essential American musical styles than any festival in the nation..." and which Life magazine has called "the country's very best music festival." 'And in reviewing the 2017 event, Jon Pareles said in the New York Times, "... whereas other major festivals tend to be brief invasions of their locales, Jazz Fest is an institution, inseparable from the city..." Inspired by the spirit of Mahalia Jackson and the Eureka Brass Band back in 1970, the New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival continues to celebrate the culture of Louisiana with the combined fervor of a gospel hymn and the joy of a jazz parade. <http://bit.ly/2z4AxzE>

ASCAP I Create Music Expo
LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA / UNITED STATES
MAY 7 - 9, 2018

The United States' largest conference for songwriters, composers, artists and producers, ASCAP "I Create Music" EXPO offers a rare opportunity for aspiring music creators to learn from and collaborate with some of the most successful and creative people in the music industry. "When we started the ASCAP EXPO, the vision was always to create a sense of community and offer songwriters a chance to network and hear from their peers and idols. One of our EXPO high points was the presentation last year of the inaugural ASCAP "Key of Life" Award to Stevie Wonder and the chance to hear him perform and talk about his life and music," said ASCAP Executive Vice President/ Chief Marketing Officer Lauren Iossa. "That was an incredible moment, and every year EXPO attendees have one-of-a-kind opportunities like this to be inspired to take the next step in their careers." <http://bit.ly/2i3zyEH>

MAY 14 - 17, 2018

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE / UNITED STATES

Each year, the Music Biz conference draws top executives from major companies to Nashville, including Amazon, Apple, Google/YouTube, Pandora, Spotify, and many more. Many of these companies have since opened offices in Nashville or expanded their presence in the city. "The Music Biz conference has grown steadily over the three years we have hosted it in Nashville, topping 2,000 attendees last year for the first time since 2001," said James Donio, President of Music Biz. "The music business sensibility of Nashville and its Music City Music Council aligns so well with our efforts on behalf of music services, stores, labels, artists, songwriters, managers, publishers, entrepreneurs, startups, educators, students, and everyone else in or looking to break into the industry. We're thrilled to make it our flagship conference's home base for at least another three years, and look forward to exposing more music companies to Nashville and the many opportunities it provides." <http://bit.ly/1hLIYMI>

Sonar+D - 2018JUN 13 - 16, 2018*BARCELONA, CATALUÑA / SPAIN

Sónar+D is the international conference that brings together a combination of activities with a common theme: the relationship between creativity and technology, and the digital transformation of the cultural industries involved. The celebration takes place in Barcelona in Fira Montjuïc, parallel to Sónar by Day, and brings together experts from around the world (technicians, entrepreneurs, artists, companies and researchers) to present initiatives and tools that will shape future creative experiences in the fields of music, visuals, interactive content and transmedia platforms. Sónar+D is a meeting point with an interdisciplinary approach. It targets professionals within the creative, technological and cultural industries to pursue their interaction. The conference facilitates the exchange of knowledge, debate, exhibiting talent, and generating business opportunities. In more than two decades of existence, Sónar has made a name for itself in the discovery of emerging artists and music, giving it value as a multidisciplinary cultural event. Sónar+D extends this organic search (research) to all areas of creative industries, hence its name: I+D o R+D= Sónar+D. Thus, Sónar+D is organically integrated into Sónar, helping make the festival a dynamic revitalization of digital culture and creative technologies beyond the natural territory of music and new media. <http://bit.ly/2yPo93g>

Pop Montreal 2018

SEP 26 - 30, 2018

MONTREAL, QUEBEC / CANADA

POP Montreal International Music

Festival is a non-profit community organization that supports independent art forms, showcasing emerging and celebrated artistic talents worldwide. Now entering its 17th year, POP Montreal's main event is a five-day long festival of music and art, which takes place in early fall, presenting more than 450 bands. Launched by friends and colleagues in 2002 from the collective impulse to create a meaningful and vibrant cultural festival, POP Montreal is now entering its 16th year as a permanent fixture on the Montreal festival map and the international music circuit. Each year, the five-day festival presents more than 400 artists to audiences of over 60 000. Delivering a bold cross-section of art forms and events, the festival includes concerts, symposium discussions, artisan and visual art exhibitions, fashion shows, film screenings, and, of course, a few all-night parties. For musicians and artists, fans, curators, critics, record labels and industry, POP Montreal is the North American festival that provides a dynamic introduction to the next generation of musical talent and independent art forms. <http://bit.ly/2xKPaTL>

A portrait of Danny Elfman, a man with reddish-brown hair and glasses, wearing a black leather jacket over a black shirt with a large, ornate silver bolo tie featuring a scorpion. He is holding a large, clear glass BMI award trophy. The trophy has "BMI" engraved on the top and "WARD KIMBALL TO DANNY ELFMAN 2007" on the base. The background is a soft, out-of-focus blue.

Danny Elfman. BMI Composer Since 1978.
