Hal Leonard Launches MuseClass

An advanced, all-in-one education solution for grade 6-12 music educators

The first major software release since Hal Leonard joined Muse Group includes world-leading music and method books, assignment features, and AI-powered practice tools.

MuseClass allows music educators and band directors to share, collect, and grade assignments on an easy-to-use platform, which also contains a curated library of educational content. Students receive assignments through the MuseClass app (available on iOS, Android & Chromebook), and can submit their progress as video or audio recordings, or upload worksheets.

One notable MuseClass feature is AutoGrade, the AI-powered practice tool. This pioneering technology listens to a student's performance and provides immediate feedback on timing and pitch, even for polyphonic instruments like piano or guitar. The tool can inspire students to repeat their practice sessions, or a teacher can set an AutoGrade challenge as an assignment.

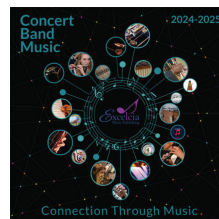

The platform is completely free for all schools in year one and will continue to be developed with close feedback from music educators. In year two, MuseClass is free for teachers, with a $15.99 annual cost per student and bespoke offerings for school districts.

BOSS Introduces Katana Gen 3 Guitar Amplifier Series

BOSS introduces the Katana Gen 3 Guitar Amplifier lineup, the third generation of the best-selling Katana amp series. Refreshed with updated sounds and features, the seven Katana Gen 3 models deliver evolved performance to take guitar ambitions to the next level. New Tube Logic enhancements enrich the core platform with even greater sound, feel, and response, including an expressive Pushed amp character that edge-of-breakup fans will love. The BOSS Tone Studio app has also been updated, making remote amp and effects editing workflows more intuitive than ever.

Backed by the acclaimed BOSS Tube Logic amplifier architecture and reactive Class AB power, the Katana series has become a standard for guitarists everywhere since its introduction in 2016. Katana amps embody decades of BOSS development knowledge, offering professional, tube-inspired sound coupled with modern advantages like onboard effects, one-touch memory recall, deep sound customization, and variable power control. Katana Gen 3 elevates the lineup with even more range and versatility, providing a playing experience that goes where no other amps can.

Hercules Releases Double Boom Mic Stand

Tight spaces and complicated multi-mic setups can create unsightly clutter and cause logistical issues for musicians and engineers alike. Streamlining the number of tripods can reduce stress, improve appearance, and even enhance safety. Hercules is helping to optimize performance environments for both stage and studio, with the all-new MS464BPRO Double Boom Mic Stand. Crafted with precision and ingenuity, the stand's two boom arms facilitate the miking of two instruments, with the footprint of only one tripod.

The Double Boom Mic stand boasts two telescopic boom arms, ensuring optimal mic placement by extending for longer distances while minimizing excess boom for shorter ones. Its dual boom clamps allow for simultaneous adjustments in angle, positioning, and height, all managed by a single tightening lever for convenience. Additionally, the Power Lock Lever provides stability during performances by securely locking the boom arms in place with a ratchet mechanism, preventing any slippage caused by mic weight.

NS Design Launches the Innovative CR Series Six-String Electric Violin

NS Design continues its commitment to cutting edge solid-body bowed electrics with the latest addition to their CR Series, the CR6 Six String Electric Violin. Tuned in fifths (EAD-GCF), or even like a guitar, the six-string design is an exciting option for violinists and an inviting new adventure for guitarists exploring new sonic territory.

The CR6 is equipped with state-of-the-art active electronics, with dual-mode preamp offering two distinct tonal qualities: a rich, modern electric violin sound and a balanced, traditional acoustic violin sound.

The NS Polar Pickup System captures string vibrations with exceptional sensitivity, offering brilliant sound for both bowed and pizzicato techniques. A three-way toggle switch, along with volume, bass EQ, and treble EQ controls, provide players with unparalleled control over their sound. The CR6 also offers a 1/8" headphone jack for in-ear monitoring and silent practice.

Custom hardshell case standard with bow holder, handle, strap, and accessories pouches; tool kit and owner's manual also included.

Fender Announces the Tom DeLonge Starcaster

Fender has announced the release of a signature guitar in honor of a melodic-punk icon, the fan favorite Tom DeLonge Starcaster. Initially released in the '70s to offer versatile sounds for players, DeLonge was drawn to the Starcaster only recently, with him first using it on stage in 2022. Its infamy was quick and fast, with die-hard fans of this punk icon rushing to modify their own Squier Starcasters at home into makeshift replicas of the instrument! So, what were they trying to emulate?

- Seymour Duncan SH-5 Duncan Custom humbucker
- Comfy modern "C" neck
- 12"-radius rosewood fingerboard for a contemporary feel
- DeLonge's original signature artwork and a custom-crafted neck plate

Available in four modern finishes: Satin Shoreline Gold, Satin Surf Green, Satin Olympic White and Satin Shell Pink
