Sunday Morning Message: Children of God—1 John 3:1

Sunday Evening Message: Song Service

Do Not Grow Weary

As a child I was always fascinated by building things and putting them together. Although I was fascinated, it does not mean that I had great success. I tried building a scooter out of some old roller skates, and until my father came and helped me, my success was limited. Once again, I tried building a bike out of some old bike parts and at that time I lacked the experience, so my father had to help me finish the task. It is not that I did not want to ask my father for help, but I knew he was busy doing what dad's do and figured he did not have much time for me.

The Apostle Paul said in Galatians 6:2, "Bear one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." Although we find ourselves to be very busy people as Christians, we need to take some valuable time and help others as we can. Most people will not say they need help until things have gone from bad to worse. As Christians we need to look for opportunities to help. In Galatians 6:9, 10, Paul tells us, "And let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart. Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith."

The message is for us to take our time, energy, and resources (sometimes money) and help others. I am so grateful to everyone who has helped me in the ministry over the years. Certainly, without that help, today, I would not be in the ministry. Over the years members have slipped money into my pocket, made sure that I had plenty of meals, made sure we had transportation. Christians normally go out of their way to help others.

I am glad that my father took time to help me build different projects in my youth. This was valuable time that will never be forgotten. But much more than the help is the relationships that grow from the time together. As Christians we need good relationships with other Christians. As the Apostle Paul would tell us "Do not grow weary while doing good." We are blessed with time and money! May God help us to figure out the best way to use it.

The Gospel of Mark (AD 67)

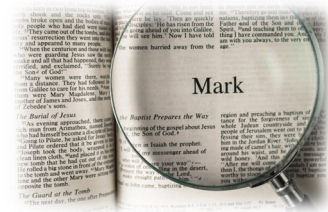

Mark is known especially for his expression “immediately,” External evidence indicates that Mark wrote what he had so often heard Peter preach. Eusebius wrote that the Romans [Christians] persuaded Mark to write the Scriptures called the Gospel of Mark (Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers of the Christian Church, 1:115-116.). Justin wrote that Mark styled his Gospel, “Peter’s memoirs” (Ibid, 1:116.).

Mark wrote of Jesus as a Servant. He wrote for the Roman stoic mind which thrilled at one’s achieving victory through apparent defeat. There is a certain affinity between Mark’s Gospel and Peter’s “first epistle.” Peter never forgot his denial of Christ on that tragic night when the cock crowed twice. He, perhaps more than any other man, came to understand and appreciate what a servant Jesus the Christ was and what a sacrifice he made for all humanity.

Mark’s Gospel is somewhat a parallel to Peter’s first epistle as well as his discourse as recorded by Luke in Acts 10, as follows:

- Mark, like Peter, introduced John the Baptist
- Mark, like Peter, wrote of both the baptism and temptation of Christ
- Mark, like Peter, set forth the Servant’s defeat and final triumph.
- Mark, like Peter, wrote of how that the Christ manifested Himself to His apostles and disciples after His resurrection.

To conclude, Matthew wrote of Christ as the “King,” Luke wrote of Him as the “Redeemer,” and Mark wrote of Him as the “Servant.”

Congregation Updates and Ramblings:

Thank you very much to Connie Stephens for the hours of additional cleaning in the Ladies bathroom downstairs and the hallway. We appreciate everything you do to keep the church clean.

If you are scheduled to serve and are unable to attend please let me know so we can schedule someone else to serve. It is helpful to know in advance!

All song leaders please remember to get your song numbers to us by Friday or Saturday. This can be very helpful!

If you would like to serve the congregation we have many opportunities available, please let Elvis know and we can find a place for you to serve. We especially need people to help in the sound room and with security.

For His Glory—Elvis
