FAGOR

EFFICIENT AND HEALTHY COOKING
& ENTERTAINING

Fagor America is a European Manufacturer of high quality cookware and appliances. Our mission is to offer consumers products that are precise, efficient, fast, & reliable. As a member of the global business community, Fagor employs environmentally and socially sound manufacturing and distribution standards for all of its divisions and suppliers. As the leading pressure cooker brand in the United States, we offer home cooks the unique opportunity to enjoy delicious & nutritious meals with cooking time reduced by up to 70%!

WHY CHOOSE A FAGOR PRESSURE COOKER?

FAST – reduces cooking time up to 70%

ENERGY EFFICIENT – Pressure Cookers are 70% faster than traditional cookware. Less time spent cooking translates into less energy used.

EASY – load ingredients, close the lid and let the pressure cooker do the cooking.

HEALTHY – Pressure cooking retains vitamins and nutrients that are usually lost in traditional cooking methods and maintains a low fat content because it utilizes less fat and oil.

SAFE – Fagor Pressure Cookers have three independent safety mechanisms making them completely safe to use. The lock on the handle will not open until all the pressure is released.

VERSATILE – you can cook a variety of different types of dishes with a pressure cooker; from appetizers, entrées to delicious desserts.

FAGOR QUALITY DESIGN SETS US APART:

- Constructed of 18/10 recycled stainless steel with aluminum encapsulated base allowing for even heat distribution.
- Exclusive triple valve safety system plus safety lock on handle prevents opening before all pressure is released.
- Two independent over-pressure release valves assure no excess pressure build-up.
- Works on any type of domestic stovetop: gas, electric, ceramic and induction.
- Simple-to-use dial format makes it easy to regulate and release pressure, and remove for cleaning!
- Select the automatic pressure release position to release pressure or the unlock position to remove for cleaning.
- Visual pressure indicator on handle shows when all pressure has been released from cooker.
- All Fagor Pressure Cookers are U.L. listed.

Duo is the top recommended pressure cooker by Cook's Illustrated Magazine!

Our recommended model was the Fagor Duo, which had all of the qualities we were looking for--except for a clear indicator that high pressure has been reached. There is a pressure indicator, but it kicks in only when all pressure has been released. Like the Magefesa, the signal for high pressure is a "gentle steady stream of steam," and some experience with the cooker is needed before you can determine exactly what that means. However, this cooker's quick-release valve is larger than the Magefesa's, and the steam is more carefully directed away from the cook. We also liked the Fagor Duo's wide base (wider than that of most other pots), which allows for easier browning and sautéing.

Pressure Cookers: While none of the models we tested met all of our specifications, we felt we could recommend the Fagor Duo without reservations. Its only drawback, the lack of an obvious high pressure indicator, should be minimized after the user has become familiar with the cooker.

RECOMMENDED

Fagor Duo 8 Quart (#85M7):

-- $109.99, available from www.amazon.com
-- Spanish manufacture

The Duo's attractive features include an excellent handle that locks solidly, easy-to-read markings indicating pressure and quick-release positions, a valve that indicates when the pot is under pressure, and a wide bottom with ample sautéing space. It also comes with clear instructions and a well-written recipe book. We missed having a clear indicator that would tell us when strong pressure has been achieved; the existing "signal" relies on the cook's ability to perceive a "gentle steady stream of steam."
